Supervisors Pick Electric Heat for Community College

Selection of electric energy to heat the Ulster Community College at Stone Ridge; awarding of a contract for test borings at the College site; participation in the Surplus Food Program and authorization to make application for participation in the Economic Opportunity Program were among matters approved by the board of supervisors hursday night.

Use of electricity over oil to heat the college brought forth considerable discussion. However electricity was selected by a 24 to 6 vote and the architects were authorized to proceed with the design and development of a heating system which will employ electric energy as the primary fuel.

Discuss Fuel Topic

Prior to adoption of the resolution, offered by Supervisor Roy Webber (R), Marbletown, chairman of the Board's College Committee, Arthur Motzkin for Kingston Oil Supply Company, and Fred Nicholas, consulting engineer for Central Hudson, spoke on the comparative qualities of the two fuels. The relative cost of installation of the two systems was outlined. Motzkin pointed out that while electric installation might be lower, the ultimate cost over a period of years would be much greater for electricity.

While the initial cost of installation would be less, Motzkin pointed out that over a period of years the fuel cost for electricity would be much greater than oil. He cited schools that had reverted to oil because of lower costs.

Advantages of electric energy were pointed out by Nichols who advised the board to follow the recommendations of the architect and his consulting heating engineers.

With Trustees

John C. Quimby, Democratic minority leader, Marlboro, said he favored following the recommendations of the college trustees. The trustees made a study of an engineering report, Quimby said, and found electricity the best fuel.

Majority Leader James Rapp (R), First Ward, agreed with Quimby. He said the trustees made a recommendation "and we should abide by it."

Speaking as a taxpayer, Larry V. Bogert, vice-president of Ballard Oil Company Inc., asked if there were any reason why the architect should not prepare plans for both systems and get costs under alternate bids for both systems.

Supervisor Charles Relyea (R), Hurley, said he felt the board was "jumping the gun" and by deciding on the question without sufficient information. He said he would abstain from voting.

On the vote the proposal to use electric energy for primary heating was approved 24 to 6.

Recommendation Cited

Supervisor Webber, prior to the vote, read a letter from Dr. Lake, president of the college which stated that on June 8 at a meeting of the trustees, the architects had recommended electricity.

By a vote of 30 to 1 the board awarded a contract to Giles Building Corporation of Kearney, N. J., low bidder, for test borings of the college site. The bid of $2,253 was lowest of four submitted.

A report was made by the Public Welfare Committee, Douglas Dye, (R), Kingston, chairman, recommending that the county participate in the Federal Surplus Food Program and that the distribution of the Surplus Foods be contracted out to private business. The board adopted a resolution offered by Supervisors Douglas Dye, Clarence C. Raichle, Lester S. Davis, James F. Carroll, John C. Quimby, Roger W. Mabie and

Johnson Muffles Conflict About Economic Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has muffled speculation over a governmental split on his economic policy by giving assurances that there are "no cross-currents, divisions or conflicts" within the administration.

The President told reporters, after a meeting wih Chairman William McC. Martin of the Federal Reserve Board and other top economic officials Thursday, that moderate but solid gains are foreseeable through 1965. "There is no reason for gloom or doom," he said.

Stock Market Speech

This was an apparent reference to the stock market slump and public furor which followed Martin's June 1 speech at Columbia University.

That was the speech in which Martin spoke of "disquieting similarities between our present prosperity and the fabulous '20s," and emphasized the role of monetary policy — management of the money and credit supply — in preventing possible inflationary excesses.

Refers to Challenge

Martin's resignation was demanded Thursday by Rep. Wrigh Patman, D-Tex., chairman of the House Banking Committee. Patman charged that Martin had challenged Johnson's economic policy and was calling for what Patman described as a disastrous policy of tight money.

"This country cannot afford, even as prosperous as it is, a man at the helm of our monetary system who is so afraid of prosperity that he has to end it," Patman said on the House floor.

But Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler, in an interview given before the White House meeting, helped Johnson to quash the talk of a policy split on the issue of tight money-versus- expansionism.

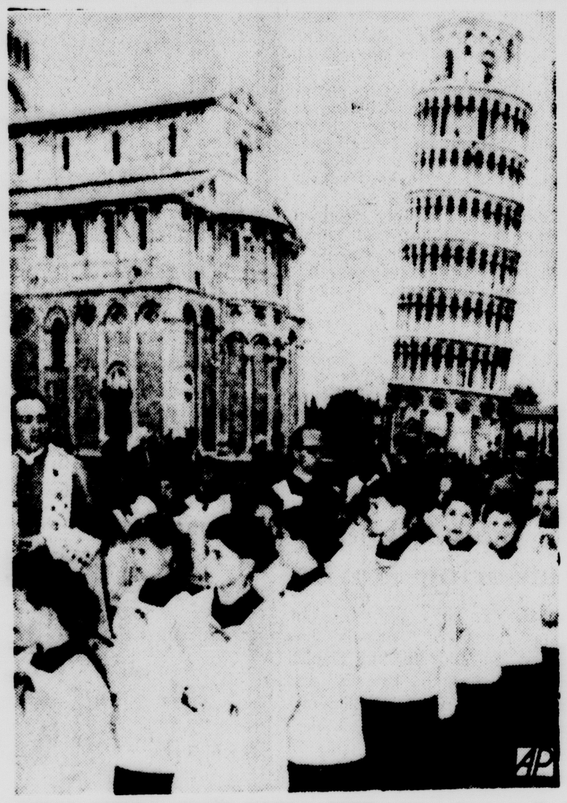

Fowler said he and Secretary of Commerce John T. Connor agreed completely with what they regarded as Martin's basic theme, that of maintaining and strengthening the soundness of the dollar.

Suprise at Reaction

"The speech caused me no nervous indigestion," Fowler said. "I was surprised at the stock market's reaction, and I think Bill (Martin) was too."

The market slump was caused by investors' fears that Martin was hinting at a coming move to tighten money by boosting interest rates, Fowler said. He himself had read no such meaning into Martin's talk "because I know Bill's thinking."

After the White House meeting, Martin smilingly indicated he had no intention of taking Rep. Patman's advice and resigning. "When and if I desire to resign I'll let you know," said the man who has headed the Federal Reserve Board under four presidents.

Fidel Weaker, Red Aim Is Hemisphere

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sister of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro said today Cubans high in the government are plotting to overthrow Castro's Communist regime.

Juanita Castro, 32, who left Cuba last June, said riots against the government have occurred in many parts of the island but news of them has been suppressed.

In testimony before a House subcommitee on un-American activities, Miss Castro told of her experiences in helping her brother reach power and her dissatisfaction with the revolution after the Communists took over.

Most Against Regime

She said her brother has built "an incredible repressive machine."

"The vast majority of Cuban people are against the Castro regime," she continued. "I don't think they will be able to stand much longer the nightmare of terror they have been living through the past few years."

Plotting Done

Miss Castro, who said she was close to the revolution's leaders until the time she left, said "there are Cubans in high places in government who are plotting against it and who stay on to accomplish this."

At the outset of her testimony Miss Castro read a prepared statement in which she said the Communist plan to take over this entire hemisphere and look on timid liberals and pacifists as their best allies.

Miss Castro said Communist leaders—and she included her brother, Fidel — "wish nothing better than to be confronted by irresolute and timid adherents of democracy, liberals and pacifists."

Timid Best Allies

"These irresolute and timid individuals, they say, are their best allies," the 32-year-old Cuban expatriate told a subcommittee on un-American activities.

She read her statement slow-

Banker Flattens Ex-Convict After He Drops His Gun

GRAND SALINE, Tex. (AP) — A quick young banker soundly whipped a husky, gun-waving ex-convict Thursday during an attempt to rob Grand Saline's First National Bank. One wild shot was fired.

"When I heard the gun drop to the floor," said W. L. Garland III, "I was able to hit him. I hit him several times. I really got in one good one. It took the hide off his nose."

It also put William Pippin, 33, whose police record dates to 1955 in Rawlings, Wyo., back behind bars.

Holds Him for Police

Garland, 28, held Pippin until police arrived at this East Texas salt mining town's only bank, and the downcast gunman said: "Well, fellows, I'm sorry — but it's all over now."

With drawn pistol, Pippin shoved past Garland, a vice president of the bank, at a side door after closing time.

Also present were W. L. Garland Jr., president of the bank and father of the young executive; four women employes and three tellers. Directors of the bank were due to meet shortly.

"I don't see how the shot missed all of us," said the elder Garland.

Crowds Inside

His son had answered a knock and cracked the door to hear Pippin inquire if the bank held a telegraphed money order for him. The younger Garland turned to relay the question to a teller and the intruder crowded inside.

"That gun looked like it might weigh 25 pounds," the vice president related. "But I caught his gun arm, we wrestled around and the gun went off."

As they struggled for the weapon, a man named by officers as an accomplice of Pippin fled in a white station wagon. He was arrested later near Dallas, where Sheriff Bill Decker identified him as Richard Rusk, 24, a parolee.

Decker said a young woman was with Rusk and their car

Three From Area Are To Advise on River

Three prominent Hudson Valley men were appointed by Governor Rockefeller to a 37-member Advisory Committee to assist the Hudson River Valley Commission in developing plans and recommendations for the best protection and preservation of the resources of the Hudson River and it present and future use and enjoyment.

They include William J. Haggerty, president of the State University at New Paltz; Lelan F. Sillin Jr., president of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corp., South Road, Poughkeepsie and Albert Kurdt, manager of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce.

Other members appointed included Senator R. Watson Pomeroy of Dutchess County, and Holt Norris Winfield, II, manager of industrial relations for the Kay Friese Chemical Company, West Haverstraw, a former Kingston resident.

In announcing the appointment of the Advisory Committee, Governor Rockefeller said:

"I deeply appreciate the willingness of the members of the Committee, representing as they do a broad spectrum of interests in the Hudson Valley, to work with the Commission in the development of an action program to assure and protect for the people of New York the future benefits which flow from one of our continent's greatest natural resources — the Hudson River.

"The Hudson through the centuries, has been one of Amer-

Aldrich Signs to Save Old Estate as Valley Art Museum

NEW YORK, June 10 — A major stride was taken today towards preserving the Columbia County estate of the famous 19th Century artist Frederick Church as a Mid-Hudson Valley art museum.

Alexander Aldrich, president and chairman of Olana Preservation, Inc., signed an agreement to lease Olana, the Church mansion a few miles south of Hudson, with Charles T. Lark Jr., a nephew of Sally G. Church, and Bankers Trust Company, executors of the estate.

The agreement, Aldrich explained, gives Olana Preservation, Inc., a purchase option on the house, the personal property and works of art therein, and the 265 acres of land for the purchase price of $470,000.

The non-profit corporation headed by Aldrich will rent the property for $2,000 per month with an option to purchase any

Proposition for Government To Use Caves Gains Impetus

A proposed $2,000,000 development of downtown caves for federal government storage use gained impetus by local action Thursday night.

July 9 was fixed by the Common Council as the date for receiving lease proposals at auction for the proposed project which was first revealed to the council in April by the Knaust family of Saugerties.

Federal government acceptance of the proposal is still pending, but reports today indicated optimism in that direction.

If accepted as planned, the contract would provide that the Knaust interests develop the caves for use by the General Service Administration of the U. S. Government, which has offices at 90 Church Street, New York City.

It was revealed in April that the Knaust family, owns some five acreas of the cave property under Hasbrouck Park and environs and the rest is owned by the city. Knaust Brothers, growers of mushrooms, for several years had leased some of the caves from the city.

Thursday night's council action dealt with minimum lease terms. A 40-year lease is sought with options to renew for 20-year periods.

Details of the plan as outlined to the council in April by Attorney G. Thomas Rea, of Saugerties, who represents the Knausts, noted that 150 persons would be employed on the project during the first year and some 50 thereafter.

Lease terms provide that the property to be leased is to be used for storage of governmental and privately owned records.

The minimum bid acceptable would include rental for the leasehold amounting to two per cent of the gross annual income from the GSA or the sum of $6,000 per annum, whichever sum is the greater.

This minimum rental would continue for 15 years, or until such time as the lessee has fully amortized its construction costs in connection with the improvements to be made. Here again is stipulated "whichever period is lesser."

Thereafter, the gross rental shall be at five per cent of the gross amount paid to the lessee by private sources, or the sum of $10,000 per annum, whichever is greater.

It was also stipulated that the lease "shall be subject to the bidder's obtaining a contract from the GSA for the rental of storage space in said caves from the successful bidder."

Another provision says the lease shall contain a clause protecting the city from the filing of any liens for labor or materials used in the improvement of the caves, and that any portion of the caves not improved within 10 years be released from the agreement.

Warren Knaust and Attorney Rea attended last night's council meeting.

The caves have been considered for civil defense use and it is believed that if the federal government becomes involved that they could be used in the future, in whole or part, for that purpose.

Fantastic, McDivitt Of Booster

Tumbled Far More ThanExpectations

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Astronaut James McDivitt said today the booster rocket with which he attempted to rendezvous during his Gemini 4 space flight was tumbling far more than anyone expected.

McDivitt and his space twin, Edward White, described their June 3-7 mission at a televised news conference.

40-50 Degrees a Second

McDivitt said the launch was entirely what he had expected and described the Titan rocket booster as "fantastic."

He said he had hoped to be able to get close to the booster rocket but that it was tumbling at the rate of 40 to 50 degrees per second, "much faster than anyone had anticipated."

He also said the booster fell away rather rapidly.

McDivitt said this made it difficult to keep the Gemini 4 spacecraft in the same orbit with the tumbling booster.

But McDivitt said space experts still learned much from the unsuccessful rendezvous attempt.

The astronauts were to receive congratulations from President Johnson this afternoon.

Will Share Praise

In a switch of plans, the astronauts and their wives chose to ask President Johnson to come to Houston so congratulations could be shared with all employes of the Manned Spacecraft Center.

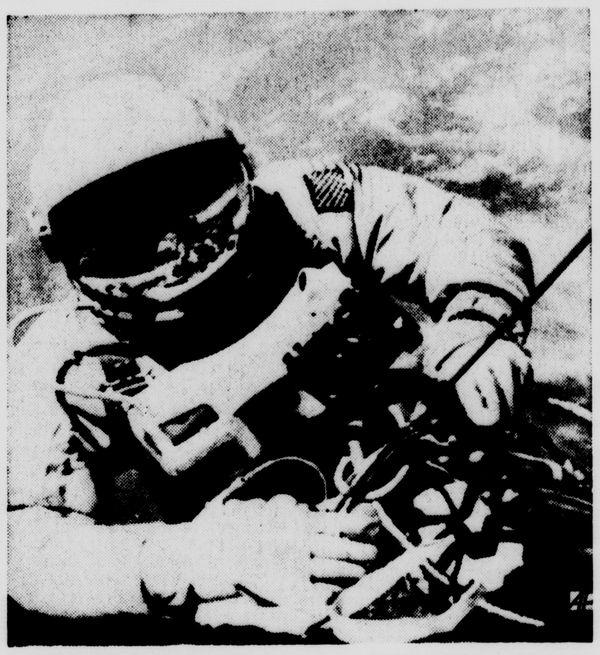

Johnson had invited the two spacemen and their families to his Texas ranch for the weekend. Thursday the President offered instead to make his first visit to the space center, the "astronauts' home."

An official of the National Aeronauties and Space Administraion said: "The gracious offer of the President overwhelmed the astronauts and their wives. They readily accepted so the honors could be shared weth the people who made the flight possible."

A White House spokesman said McDivitt and White welcomed the change so they could spend more time with their families.

The astronauts returned to Houston Thursday, and White said their homecoming was an event second only to the successful splashdown Monday. The heroes were met with hugs and kisses from their wives and children at Ellington Air Force Base, then had a brief lunch and private chat at their homes before continuing the debriefing of

Wagner Move Could Affect Both Camps

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner's decision not to seek a fourth term touched off a scramble for the Democratic mayoral nomination today and promised to have national political repercussions in both parties.

The decision Thursday, which the three-term mayor said was based on family considerations, could produce some political pressure on the national level for the selection and financing of a powerful Democratic opponent to Republican Rep. John V. Lindsay in the Nov. 2 election.

Lindsay Poses Threat

Lindsay, 43, a proven vote getter in this nation's largest city where registered Democrats outnumber Republicans by more than 3-to-1, has been mentioned as potential presidential material. A victory in the mayoral race would boost both him and the GOP. President Johnson reportedly is anxious to see him defeated.

A new name cropped up on the Democratic side shortly after Wagner made his announcement. In Washington, Harlem Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., boosted Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., son of the late president, for the nomination. Roosevelt, 50, recently switched by President Johnson from undersecretary of commerce to chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, said he had received telephone calls from public officials and "important Democrats." He declined to identify them.

RFK Seen at Helm

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., who now appears on his way to uncontested control of the Democratic party in New York with the withdrawal of Wagner, said the fate of the party in the city depends "on how well we do in selecting a candidate."

Kennedy said Roosevelt is "one of a number of possible candidates." He declined to name any others.

Rehabilitation Home Purchased For Out-Patients

Plans were outlined today for the use of a Kingston home as a Halfway House for Middletown State Hospital.

Dr. Hyman Pleasure, director, announced that the New York State Mental Hygiene Facilities Improvement Fund has purchased the property at 97-99 Clinton Avenue, and will be officially opened before the end of the month for the vocational and social rehabilitations of outpatients at Midletown State.

The Department of Mental Hygiene in Albany confirmed the transaction and filing of the deed. Owner of the property, which consists of two houses on the corner of Franklin Street, was Mrs. Henry Millonig, who had operated it as the Clinton Avenue Nursing Home for 15 years until last year. The Home had received national accreditation.

Year of Study

Dr. Pleasure said purchase of the property was the culmination of a year of study and negotiation, which Middletown State Hospital has been carrying on as a result of a grant from the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, National Institute of Mental Health.

This grant, which amounts to

Dong Xoai Shambles; 958 Dead

C123 Crash Takes Eight U. S. Lives

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The battle for Dong Xoai ended today with heavy casualties on both sides. The routed Viet Cong left district headquarters in ruins, strewn with bodies of men, women and children.

3 Yanks Killed in Fight

U.S. military authorities said the latest count of American casualties in the battle were 3 dead, 15 wounded and 15 missing. Eight of the missing were crewmen on two helicopters destroyed by enemy fire. A newsman who visited the town 60 miles north of Saigon said several American bodies were found in the ruins.

An 11-man U.S. Army special forces team and a nine-man U.S. Navy Seabee squad engaged in building an airstrip were at the district headquarters when the Viet Cong attacked Wednesday night.

Two Bodies Recovered

The number of U.S. casualties in Viet Nam jumped again when a two-engine C123 transport ferrying ammunition and supplies crashed in flames in central Viet Nam, killing at least eight Americans.

A U.S. spokesman said a ground party recovered the bodies of two Air Force men and six Army men. He did not know how many had been aboard.

Military sources were uncertain of the cause of the crash.

The three confirmed deaths at Dong Xoai brought the toll of American dead in Vietnamese combat since December 1961 to 409. The dead in the C123 crash would not be added to the combat toll unless enemy fire was determined.

700 Cong Killed

Government and Viet Cong casualties were heavy in the fierce fighting that began at Dong Xoai early Thursday. About 150 civilians also were reported killed, including many women and children.

The government reported 280 casualties for its forces — 108 killed, 126 missing and 46 wounded. It claimed that 700 Communist guerrillas were killed — 300 in Dong Xoai and another 400 by U.S. and Vietnamese air strikes 3 to 4 miles north of the town.

None of the government figures were confirmed by U.S. military officials.

U.S. and Vietnamese planes flew 121 sorties against the Dong Xoai area Thursday.

Through the night Communists probed at government positions in the town, and there was hand-to-hand fighting on the outskirts.

Slips Into Jungle

The shooting ended at 6:30 a.m. when the Viet Cong pulled out of the area and disappeared into the jungle, the U.S. spokesman said.

Vietnamese rangers and airborne units combed the town, picking up the dead and wounded. No further contact with the Communist guerrillas was reported.

Most of the wounded Americans were evacuated Thursday afternoon. Maj. Harvey E.

Hearing Scheduled June 23 On Connelly Water Proposal

The installation of a public water supply system for the residents of Connelly became a step closer to reality when Esopus Town Board at its monthly meeting this week set the date for the required public hearing. The Town Board meeting was held Wednesday evening at the Town Hall, Port Ewen.

The public hearing will be held Wednesday, June 3, at 8 p. m. at the Town Hall. The hearing will be the culmination of a drive by residents of Connelly to obtain water from the Port Ewen system. The request for water for Connelly started late last summer, shortly after Port Ewen's new Hudson River water treament plant went into operation, when a group of Connelly residents appeared at a meeting of the Port Ewen Water Commissioners and made known their interest.

Following this, preliminary engineering estimates re made and a public information meeting on the subject was conduteed by the Esopus Town Board at Connelly Firehouse on November 30. The required petition was circulated and approximately 60 per cent of the residents of Connelly signed the petition. The petitioners, however, did not meet the requirement that the signerss also represent 51 per cent of the assessed valuation in the proposed area to be served.

Late last month, Callanan Road Improvement Company signed the petition and the value of the properties represented went to 53 per cent, thus meeting all necessary legal requirements of the petition.

The total assessed valuation of the Connelly area to be added to Port Ewen Water District is $215,894.

The proposed project would cover the installation of approximately 10.000 feet of water mains. The engineering cost estimate for the installation is $93,000. If the project should be approved, it is estimated that the actual work woud take place during the late summer.

It was disclosed by Attorney-for-the-Town Charles H. Gaffney that it would not be permissable to hold a referendum on the proposal to refurbish Ross Park, Port Ewen. The decision whether to refurbish or not to refurbish Ross Park must lie solely with the Town Board. Recent court rulings have established the fact that in a decision such as the proposed refurbishing of the park, the decision is entirely the perogative of the Town Board as the duly elected representatives of the people, and that no "permissive," advisory or any other type of referendum is permitted. The only instance where a referendum is allowed is on the method of financing, if certain types of bonding are undertaken.

No action on the Ross Park proposal was taken at Wednesday's meeting. The Ross Park Commissioners will hold their monthly meeting Tuesday and a review of the entire question will be made after this meeting.

At a public hearing held June 2, approximately 150 citizens were in attendance. At the hear-

Criterions Face Busy June Dates

Participation in Kingston Day at Shea Stadium Sunday afternoon is the highlight of a busy June schedule for the Criterions Drum Corps.

The Coprs will perform between the games of a doubleheader between the Mets and the Los Angeles Dodgers in Kingston Day ceremonies sponsored by the Old Timers Baseball Association.

The Criterions, carrying the colors of Kingston Post 150 of the American Legion, are scheduled for an exhibition Saturday night in a junior drum corps show in Paterson, N. J. Their season of competition begins June 19 at New Rochelle, and that same day they will march in a district American Legion convention parade in that Westchester County city.

The Criterions will appear in another competition on June 26 at Aquinas Stadium in Rochester, a marching and maneuvering show sponsored by the Rochester Crusaders.

Advanced Play Saves Trick

By JACOBY & SON

Here is another advanced teaching hand. It illustrates the use of the Stayman convention after North's no-trump opening.

South responds two clubs to see if North can produce a four-card major suit. When North rebids two diamonds to deny a four-card major South jumps to three hearts to force North to make a further bid and North continues to the heart game. He has 4-3-3-3 distribution but is afraid of the diamond suit.

The four-heart contract is a good one, but careless play will cause South to lose his contract.

He will ruff the third diamond and then if he is anything but an advanced student he will lead the queen of hearts for a finesse. West will put on his singleton king and East will collect two trump tricks.

An advanced student won't fall into that trap. He will know that there is nothing to be gained by the trump finesse because there is no way to avoid the loss of a trump trick and he will note the danger of losing two trump tricks in the event that either opponent holds the singleton king of trumps. Therefore he will play a low heart instead of the queen and will make his contract in spite of the four-one trump break.

Trigger Boycott To Oust Chicago's School Leader

CHICAGO (AP) — A drive to oust schools Supt. Benjamin C. Willis and to speed classroom integration produced a traffic-jamming march on City Hall Thursday and the city's third school boycott — this one unofficial.

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored people, and James Farmer, national direction of the Congress of Racial Equality were scheduled to arrive today.

Wilkins and Farmer planned to lead a group of civil rights marchers down busy streets from Soldier Field to City Hall, retracing Thursday's hour-and-15-minute march of some 200 persons which jammed traffic over the 2½-mile route.

The boycott, originally backed by the NAACP and other civil rights groups, apparently was dampened by a court order enjoining integrationists from encouraging school absenteeism.

Ruling Changed By Court About Censoring Movies

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State Court of Appeals has opened the door for the Danish movie "A Stranger Knocks" and closed it on further motion picture censorship by the Education Department.

The court's decision Thursday reversed its earlier ruling banning the showing of the Danish film.

It declared that the state law providing for movie censorship and licensing "violates the 14th Amendment of the Constitution of the United States and is null and void."

In other rulings, the court:

—Ordered a hearing to determine whether the television coverage of a man arrested in connection with a holdup had prejudiced his right to a free trial.

—In a split decision, 4-3, refused to dismiss an indictment which sent a 14-year-old boy, now a man of 32, to prison.

Under the former censorship format, movie distributors and exhibitors had to submit films to the motion picture division of the State Education Department.

Thursday's decision, however, does not block the state's criminal law that bars the showing of obscene films. Persons who show such films still are subject to arrest.

Methodists Take Stand on Viet And Parenthood

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — The Western New York Conference of the Methodist Church has upheld planned parenthood and urged a cease fire in Viet Nam.

Delegates at the 156th annual conference session here adopted almost unanimously last night resolutions on both subjects.

The 500 clergymen and laymen called for "persistent efforts" by the U.S. to seek a cease fire.

U.S. involvement in Viet Nam, they said, "has gone far beyond the initially stated function of advising and supporting the government of South Viet Nam. The aggressive warfare now being waged by American military forces constitutes a state of undeclared war."

The delegates, who represent 295 Methodist churches in Western New York, also upheld "the right and obligation of members to use the gifts of science to responsibly plan their families and to limit or pace the number of offspring through the use of contraceptives."

The session ends Sunday.

Sales to Farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government sold slightly more than fifty-five million bushels of its surplus feed grains—mostly corn — to drought - distressed farmers in 33 states during the 10 months ended April 30.

The sales, at cut-rate prices, were made by the Agriculture Department to 702 emergency designated counties.

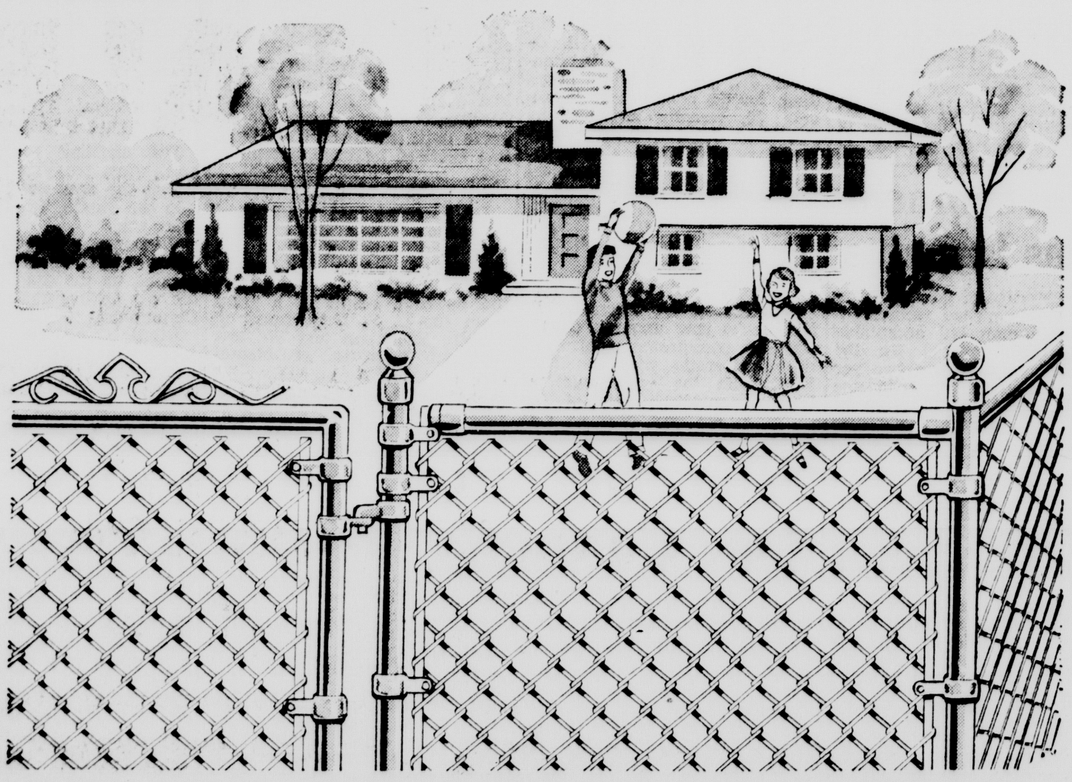

The department expects that large amounts will need to be made available in the months ahead to farmers in the Northeast because of continued drought.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — What this week's stock market break did to investors pocketbooks — whether in actual cash loss or trimming of paper profits — is clear enough. What, if anything, it may have done to public confidence, or consumer and business psychology, can have a more serious bearing on the nation's economic prospects.

Try to Guess Ahead

Rumors can race through Wall Street and be disproved and forgotten But just how much importance do most Americans now place in such price gyrations? Or on stock traders' views of economic prospects when these vary from the official ones in Washington or those aired by corporate executives?

Stock traders try to guess ahead of time which way the economy is headed and how prospects for individual companies will change. This brokerage boardroom preoccupation makes traders extrasensitive to rumors, however wrong they may prove to be.

But the stock market's scorecard in this game isn't too impressive. The market crashes following President John F. Kennedy's assassination, the Bay of Tonkin acceleration of the Viet Nam conflict and like events were quickly reversed. It took a little longer, but the market erased the big drop of May and June 1962 and went on to new heights.

Business executives were far less disturbed by these market breaks than were the traders. This year corporate chiefs have been steadily upgrading their plans for expansion of plant and equipment. This is based on belief that the economy will continue to grow and that new productive facilities can be put to profitable use.

Could the tremors on Wall Street this week cause corporate directors to revise or shelve such plans? This could slow down the economy much more than the loss of paper profits on the stock exchanges.

Business leaders are aware of the age of the economic upswing, now in its 52nd month. They are aware of the Viet Nam, Dominican and other world trouble spots. They've long known about the balance of payments problem. They still seem to believe that the economy will continue to expand.

Consumers Ignore Cyrations

Consumers are another matter. In recent years they've ignored the stock market gyrations. The big crash in 1962 had little effect on consumer spending largely because personal incomes continued to rise and because most of the damage seemed to be confined to stock traders themselves.

And because consumers went on spending, business took heart and in time started another round of increased spending for plant and equipment.

Together this kept the economy on its upward course. In turn, this brought the stock market back in line. Many fledgling stocks that had been bid up too high were left behind. But the key stocks regained their old position.

This week's tremors, whatever the causes, may sober up any would - be speculators. Whether the price break will frighten business executives and consumers remains to be seen. At the moment the odds seem to be it won't.

U. S. Cites Local Firms in Labor Act Violations

Three Kingston firms, were among those cited in criminal and civic actions by the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour Division last month, it was announced today.

Frank B. Mercurie, regional director of the department's Wage-Hour and Public Contracts Division, said that the local firms were cited for failure to pay overtime and failure to keep proper records. The firms identified as Primrose Fashions Inc.; Miss Prim Sportswear Inc., Albert and Murray Camhi, and Albert Cahmi, doing business as A. B. C. Finishing Company, all of 83 Smith Avenue, manufacturers of ladies' dresses.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz asked the U. S. District Courts of New York and New Jersey for orders restraining those and other firms from future violations of the laws pertaining to overtime, child labor, minimum wage, record keeping or shipping provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act.

TV Reviews, Best Bets

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A friend who makes a handsome but nervous living predicting television tastes and dreaming up program ideas to match them had a flare-up of his ulcer when he heard that CBS next season will have a show called "The Wild, Wild West."

As a close student of TV ways, he is aware that a successful show one season results in a spate of imitations the next, plus some which try to combine an established form with a new trend.

Thus, evolving new series ideas often becomes almost a slide-rule operation. He foresees trouble ahead if "The Wild, Wild West" hits the Nielsen top 10: it seeks to combine, not the usual two, but three forms: the perennially popular comedy, Old West plus the new secret-agent fad.

Before entering the intensive care section of his hospital, he sent me, in plain, unmarked wrapping, the following attempt to combine the Western, comedy and — here's the kicker—suds:

"Marshal Place"

(Marshal Ben Ringo and his beautiful wife, Abigail, are having a cup of coffee at the bar of the Last Opportunity. A suitcase and hatbox are beside her.)

Ben: Abby, are you going to visit your ma in St. Louis again?

Abby: Ben, Ben, you're such a good man. I just don't know how to start. . .it isn't easy, Ben, because you've always been so good and understanding. . .

Ben: Are you trying to tell me something, Abigail?

(She breaks into sobs.)

Ben (puzzled): You mean?

Abby: Yes, yes. There's someone else. Oh Ben, you shouldn't have taken the stage to Cheyenne and left me alone so much. And your best friend-

Ben. You mean. . .?

Abby: Yes, I must tell you. I love Evil Eye Charlie and he loves me. We are going to make a new life together and neither you nor Myrna, his jealous wife, can stop us.

Ben: Why, now you just dry your tears, Abby. And you two just run along. For a few minutes I thought you were planning to run off with my trusty horse. And I sure hope you and Evil Eye have a pleasant time.

(The End)

My friend seemed unhappy, but I've just sent him a note saying I thought it was the most stimulating, creative, original outline for a pilot that I've read since someone smuggled me a new script with the working title of "Peyton Lane."

Hollywood Still That Fabled Land Of Opportunity

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Can a book editor make movies? Twentieth Century-Fox has bet $16 million that Saul David can, and the company doesn't seem concerned about the outcome.

The story of Saul David is proof that Hollywood can still be the land of opportunity for someone who believes in the movie medium — and himself. Here is a chap who never made a movie before. Yet the Zanucks, father and son, saw fit to let him produce "Von Ryan's Express" at $6 million, "Fantastic Voyage" at a like amount, and "Our Man Flint" for $4 million.

"They said to me, 'We'll put our money where your mouth is,'" David reported, still somewhat awed. "It was as simple as that."

The Springfield, Mass., boy started out to be an artist, but got sidetracked into radio. Between jobs he was in New York when he answered an ad for a company seeking package designs. David took his portfolio and was accosted by a man who asked, "How would you like a job reading Westerns?"

David allowed that he would, and he became a $75-a-week reader for Bantam books. Four years later he was chief editor and in 10 years he was vice president and editorial director. But he was restless for new challenges.

"I was always fascinated with the movie business," he explained.

David had a knack for locating and creating books with film possibilities. Columbia hired him three years ago to help create film properties.

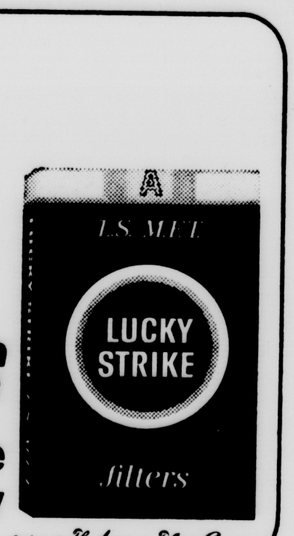

The project went swimmingly until he ran into son-in-law problems. He was told the picture was being called off. He resigned.

A writer friend, David Westheimer, showed him the manuscript of "Von Ryan's Express." David saw its potential as a film and offered it to the studios with himself as producer.

Fox bought "Von Ryan's Express", hired Frank Sinatra as star and started David on his spending spree.

EXTENDING MAN'S REACH

It was a great weekend for America, and in only slightly lesser degree a great weekend for all mankind. Despite its minor failures—indeed, in some part as a result of them—the four-day orbital flight of the Gemini 4 was a brilliant triumph. It was distinctively an American triumph. It also was a triumph for science and technology, which must be regarded as the product not alone of this nation's endeavor but of the work done by scientists of many nations down through the years.

Here was the supreme example, thus far, of man's effort to project himself beyond the limitations of his own physical powers. Much of history can be written as a continuation of this effort.

When some distant progenitor of the race first picked up a stone or stick and wielded it or threw it as a weapon, he was adding to his own powers. Every step in the human advance since those remote times has been marked by increasingly complex ways of extending hand and foot and eye. These many thousands of years later, man travels farther and faster than any other creature; he communicates around the planet in an instant; he peers at the infinitely small, and at the incredibly vast objects that swim in the ocean of space billions of light years away.

It is in the light of this that the Gemini 4 flight must be viewed. Surely a sense of pride in this nation's remarkable accomplishment is justified; our space team, in all its diverse complexity, has functioned like a well coordinated machine. We have learned much, even from such failures as the inability to rendezvous with a rocket booster and the "freezing" of a computer in the vital last minutes of the flight. But above all we, and to generous extent the science that knows no national boundaries, have extended our senses and muscles—have reached farther into space.

A SERMON FOR PEACE

President Johnson's commencement address at the Catholic University of America was a kind of sermon. Though he cited no scriptural text as the theme of his remarks, there were biblical echoes both in his subject—the vital need for peace—and in the language he devoted to it.

The President reiterated once again a point often made in the past when he said that the United States and the rest of the free world "are ready, as we are always ready, to open the door and invite peace to enter, to dwell in the house of all nations forever." There was a scriptural quality, too, in his statement that "we wait only for those of the human family who have barred their doors and closed their windows to pull back your curtains and signify to mankind that you are ready, too, to welcome peace to the table of man." And the President's favorite words from the Old Testament recurred when he extended to Communist peoples of the world this invitation: "Come, now, let us reason together."

These and other adjurations in the cause of peace will doubtless win only a cynical response from hostile governments. Still, these were things worth saying again, if only in the hope that some of this earnest appeal will lodge in the hearts of some on the other side of the Communist curtains. For ultimately, even there, the popular will has some influence on what governments do. We can only hope, in the light of the common human aspirations for a peaceful an orderly world, that many living under regimes hostile to such a world will hear and say a quiet Amen.

HERE COMES SUMMER

Summer is on its way, and it won't be long until it's here. For those interested in exactness, it will make its official appearance at 9:56 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, June 21.

It's the season of vacation and fun. Almost everyone welcomes and eagerly awaits it. But, every year, that fun is brutally, bloodily and instantly ended for great numbers of people, because of careless, thoughtless and overenthusiastic practices.

The dangers are varied, but they all can be averted. For instance:

Highway driving will be at its height, and congestion will be common. Adjust and adapt your driving habits accordingly.

Sunbathing is a happy and somnolent pleasure. But too much exposure can make your vacation a time of pain and even put you in the hospital. Take the sun in moderate doses, particularly at the beginning.

Swimming is summer's classic exercise. Tragically, drownings run well into the thousands each season. Swimming alone, overestimation of ability and endurance, diving into unknown waters are some of the potentially lethal practices responsible.

The boating boom has reached enormous proportions. Improper boat handling, overloading, failure to have the proper safety equipment aboard, a lack of knowledge of the rules of the road, such needless hostages to fortune as these take a heavy toll of health and life.

So have fun this summer. But know what you're doing and do it the right way. That is the safe way!

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE SPY AS HERO—AND LEPER

Unless, like Nathan Hale, they are safely entombed in remote history, spies have not ordinarily been singled out by their national employers for patriotic acclaim. Seemingly there has been an international agreement that spying shall never be admitted—and when a spy loses "cover," through detection or by falling out of the air like Francis Gary Powers, it has usually been a source of embarassment to his superiors back home.

Curiously enough, however, both the United States and the Soviet Union have begun in recent months to reverse an age-old policy in this business of honoring specific spies by name. In May of this year information was permitted to slip out that Francis Powers had been awarded a "secret medal" by the Central Intelligence Agency, presumably because of his prowress as a U2 pilot. And the Russians, last February, publicly proclaimed that a Colonel Lev Yefimovich Manevich had been rewarded posthumously with the rank of Hero of the Soviet Union for valor and courage displayed in the performance of "special assignments before World War II and during the struggle against Fascism."

Just what this official glorification of the spy may mean is a little mysterious, unless one is to presume that the two big Cold War powers have suddenly decided that careers in espionage must be made sufficiently attractive to bring in the best recruits. In the U.S. the device of a "secret medal" has to be used, but in Russia, where artists are controlled, the spy has become the newest officially blessed hero of fiction. When General Charles Willoughby, MacArthur's G2 in Tokyo, wrote a book about the Soviet spy ring operated by Richard Sorge in Japan, he thought he was exposing something the Russians wanted to hide. But in due course Sorge got his posthumous citation from the Kremlin—and he now turns up as the hero of a fictionized biography that glorifies the spy's calling. He has also had a Moscow street named after him.

Curiously, the spy in Russia has become the "good guy" in works that turn Stalin and his top military leaders into "bad guys." Arkady G. Gaev, a scholarly student of contemporary Soviet literature, points to three separate Russian novels in which the secret agent is depicted as a person who sought in vain to warn Stalin against impending danger. The novels are "The Last Two Weeks," by Alexander Rosen, "June 1941," by Grigory Baklanov, and "Not Born as Soldiers," by K. Simonov.

Because of the unusual position of honor which is accorded to its spies by Soviet Russia, the lurid record that is unfolded by Pierre J. Huss and George Carpozi Jr. in their fascinating book, "Red Spies in the U.N.," will hardly become a matter of the past tense insofar as the generic nature of its subject is concerned. The Russians, of course, can't admit openly to using the UN as a diplomatic shield for concentrated spy activity in the United States. But people like Valentin Gubitchev, who used his diplomatic immunity to steal Department of Justice secrets with the help of Brooklyn-born Judith Coplon, or Boris Fedorovich Gladkov, who worked out of the Soviet Mission to the UN to wangle turbine secrets from American industrialists, are, as the authors of "Red Spies in the U.N." put it, "here to stay." And, when it is safe to write about them in Russia, they will probably show up as heroes in Soviet fiction.

There is no point in crying about the fact that spies are suddenly "in" as contemporary heroes. We live in that kind of an age. But Pierre Huss and George Carpozi, with their absorbing true-story episodes in which the Soviets and their Cuban buddies have attempted to use the UN in New York as "cover" for the type of work that might kill you or me on a busy Manhattan street or in a North Jersey oil plant (see the chapter called "The FBI Nails the Cuban Saboteurs"), have indicated the one thing that we might do to negate the Soviet spy plots. When you meet a Russian or a Cuban or a satellite "diplomat," tell him all about Yogi Berra. He seems to fascinate spies.

Spies masquerading as diplomats may be the newest fictional hero rage in Russia, but they should be treated as lepers here.

Forms of Pancreatitis Have Varied Symptoms

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What are the symptoms of pancreatitis and what causes it?

A—Since the pancreas has several functions and since there are different kinds of pancreatitis, a definite set of symptoms can't be given. Acute pancreatitis is usually an extension of an infection in the gall bladder or intestines. This would cause severe pain in the upper abdomen associated with vomiting. This serious disease calls for emergency treatment in a hospital.

Chronic pancreatitis may develop in a person who has recovered from acute pancreatitis. It may cause nausea or loss of appetite and some pain or tenderness in the region of the gall bladder. A drinking spree may trigger an attack. Removal of an infected gall bladder will sometimes put an end to the attacks. Recent studies indicate that an anti-enzyme will check the production of trypsin, the digestive enzyme elaborated by the pancreas. This relieves the pain of pancreatitis.

Q—My doctor says I have calcification of the pancreas. What causes this and is there anything that can be done for it?

A—In some persons with chronic pancreatitis partial calcification of the gland occurs. There is no treatment for this except the treatment of the underlying cause.

Q—I have been taking injections of Stilbestrol. Could they have any harmful effects? I am taking diethylstilbestrol pills. Can they cause my hair to fall out?

A—Both drugs are the same. This female hormone is usually given to supplement the decreased function of the ovaries in women undergoing the menopause. The chief side effects due to too large a dosage are vomiting, soreness of the breasts and headache. Whether taken as pills or by injection the drug should not cause loss of hair.

Washington News

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA) — By the end of summer some 30,000 nonprofessional people are expected to be drawn from the ranks of the poor into community action programs for the war on poverty.

Largely from these same ranks will come some 45,000 paid employes of the poverty project called Head Start, a summer-time crash effort aimed at helping 300,000 disadvantaged pre-school children to enter kindergarten or the first grade next fall on a relatively equal footing with their luckier neighbors.

These are not routine statistics. They are a measure of the potential for social revolt contained in the war on poverty.

If that revolution comes off, and there seems no reason at this stage to doubt it will, it could ultimately dwarf all other effects of the poverty program. The participation of tens of thousands of poor people in programs designed for their own uplift can mean the first real breaking down of invisible walls which now keep them seriously allienated and isolated from the broad mainstreams of American life.

ONE POVERTY OFFICIAL SAYS alienation is the principal characteristic of the urban poor and isolation a mark of the rural poor. A great goal of the anti-poverty effort, therefore, is to "reconnect" these millions with the society they live in but of which they are not genuinely a part.

It should surprise no one that the mood of the alienated urban poor today is one of "deep distrust," as poverty officials are discovering afresh. Not only the established political and business leadership but the very social and welfare agencies whose existence is formally dedicated to the poor are regarded as nearly 100 per cent suspect.

The inclusion of representatives of the poor on community action boards and committees is a highly publicized move toward bridging this crucial gap. But in the view of key officials the swelling flow of "nonprofessionals" into the program is the real cue to the prospect of social revolution.

One official: "Six months from now these people will be the real representatives of the poor."

AS THE PROSPECT IS ENVISIONED, the poor helping themselves out of the depths of deprivation, ignorance and ill health will become a new force in society — balanced against the "establishment," often in conflict with it, pressing for a place as real contributors to the nation's life in contrast to their present role as hostile embittered bystanders.

If the transformation occurs on a substantial scale, the forecast is made that within a few years some of these "representatives of the poor" will begin to turn up as precinct delegates in political party affairs. Their impact on organized labor could be considerable.

Says one poverty fighter: "They're going to give labor unions fits."

From director Sargent Shriver on down, this outlook is understood and approved. A while back Shriver said:

"We face a revolution in expectations — a radical shift in the hopes, demands and aspirations of the poor themselves. We cannot stem that tide. And we do not wish to do so."

THE REACTIONS IN THE ESTABLISHMENT are something else. A considerable part of the heralded controversy over the poverty program, mostly in some of the big cities, seems to reflect recognition by seasoned politicians of the immense potential it has for sweeping, unpredictable change.

There is more involved, some officials here believe, than the politicians' natural urge to get control of a good thing. Many sense the danger to their status from an emerging new force which, if it isn't grasped by them, could one day topple them from power.

Also unsettled, of course, are the established professionals — nurses, teachers, welfare and social workers. The non-professionals strike them as a serious job threat.

Some poverty officials are predicting, moreover, that the publicized unsettlement of urban power structures may appear relatively minor alongside the ferment looked for in the rural areas in the months just ahead.

Yet there is a firm conviction among responsible officials guiding and watching these changes that the predicted social revolution will not only go forward but finally will be accepted "of necessity" by all establishment elements" which now feel its challenge so keenly.

President Johnson's Appeal To People of Soviet Union

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — President Johnson has five times in recent days addressed a direct appeal to the people of the Soviet Union to join with the American people not only in a mission of peace but in sharing the economic fruits of a better life for mankind

While speaking, for instance, at the graduation exercises of Catholic University in Washington on June 6, the President appealed to the "leaders" as well as to the "people" of the Communist countries. He said:

"Come now, let us reason together. Our door is unlatched. Our table is set. We are ready—we believe mankind is ready with us."

But the appeals have not been answered, Mr. Johnson, evidently conscious of the silence in the Communist world, mentioned this publicly on June 8. At a ceremonial singing of a bill establishing a National Institute for the Deaf, he said:

"Sometimes it seems that deafness is not simply an affliction of individuals, but an affliction of nations as well."

The President at the same time pointed out that, while communications in space are instantaneous, communications among other nations have not kept pace. As a matter of fact, communication between peoples is one of the most challenging problems that faces the world today. On April 2, this correspondent wrote in one of his dispatches:

"Oddly enough, the Western countries have not realized that their most powerful weapon today involves communication—to penetrate the countries which have totalitarian governments and to make the people realize how much better their lives would be if they had some of the conveniences and advantages enjoyed by the people in the free countries.

Millions of dollars are spent annually by Western countries to broadcast news of political speeches or highbrow arguments about ideoligical questions, but the simple facts of life are not hammered home to the peoples behind the iron curtain. The contrast between the life of the average citizen in Britain or France or West Germany or the United States and the life of the people in the Soviet Union has not been thoroughly publicized to points behind the iron curtain."

Mr. Johnson has since given plain hints that the United States would be willing to join in economic ventures which would truly benefit the people of the Soviet Union if they had the kind of government that was not a menace to world peace.

Many persons will wonder whether this will ever get through to the Soviet people. But the facts are that, when a President of the United States speaks, the radio carries the message everywhere, and public discussion is thereby initiated. It is by word-of-mouth communication that messages of importance to every nation are eventually conveyed to the people even behind the iron curtain.

Some of the things that Mr. Johnson has said now should be broadcast repeatedly by the United States Information Agency. Excerpts from his speeches need to be read and re-read in the Soviet Foreign Office. For instance, President Johnson said on June 3 in Chicago:

"No true Soviet interest is going to be served by the support of aggression or subversion anywhere in the world. We of the United States of America stand ready tonight as always to go with you onto the fields of peace — to plow new furrows, to plant new seed, to tend new growth — so that we and so that all mankind may some day share togetcher a new and a bountiful harvest of happiness and hope on this earth."

Mr. Johnson was, of course expressing in polite language a disagreement with the doctrines of international communism, often referred to as "Communist Imperialism," which holds that peoples outside the Soviet Union must be made subject to the dictates of Soviet Socialism. This has led to infiltration and intrigue as well as aggression conducted by Communist forces not only in Southeast Asia but in Africa, Cuba, the Dominican Republic and other countries in Latin America.

The Soviet Nation needs to be reminded again and again that the United States stood by Russia at a critical time in her life —when, from 1941 to 1945, the military power of the United States was thrown into the balance and helped to defeat Hitler, who had already overrun a portion of the Soviet Union, causing the loss of millions of Russian lives.

Unfortunately, the appeals for a genuine peace which President Johnson has been making have thus far evoked no response from the Kremlin. Perhaps this is because the question of how to reply has caused debate inside Communist party councils.

It could be, of course, that Russia's internal situation does not permit the kind of response that ought to be made, because there are factions in Moscow which want an even more aggressive course than has been pursued by the Soviet government. The instinctive wish of the Russian people themselves, however, is for peace with America, and hence nothing is lost by a continuance of President Johnson's appeals to them to manifest their desires in their own way to the ruling authorities in the Soviet Union.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The last of the hostile Indian tribes — the Miccosukee of Florida — has given up. This week it appeals to Congress for land already donated by the State of Florida. It must be federalized. Then the Miccosukee and the Seminoles will share a strip of swamp stretching 26 miles north and south, and six miles east and west.

It is hardly a happy hunting ground, but it abounds in deer, birds, fish and reptiles. The Miccosukee discovered that the crazy pale faces eat frog legs, and the Everglades is full of popeyed croakers. If peace comes between the Miccosukee Nation and the Great White Father, it is because Chief Buffalo Tiger is a diplomat.

He lives on the Tamiami Trail at 40-mile-Bend. He is 45 years of age, has jet hair flecked with fox tips, molasses skin, and slit eyes. Three times since 1823, the Miccosukee have made peace with the White Man, and three times the White Man has broken the treaty by pushing the Indian off land which is rightfully his.

A state of hostility, not open war, has existed. Once, the Miccosukee numbered many thousands, and the British and French referred to them as "the most formidable warriors among the Indians." When the Creeks fought the U. S. Army many years ago, the Red Skins lost and retreated to the swamps of central Florida. There they lived in a state of alert peace with the Miccosukee, who were natives.

Runaway slaves hid in the swamps, and the Creeks called them Seminolees, which menas people "whom the sun god does not love." The White men began to call the Creeks Seminoles, and the name has stuck. In this century, the Seminoles were shoved onto reservations at Dania, Brighton and Big Cypress, and they learned to like the White Man's handouts.

They wrestled alligators, strung beads and sold themselves as tourist attractions. The Miccosukees remained independent, and suffered in poverty. Further, a lot of young bucks began to desert the Miccosukees and join the Seminoles. Today, there are perhaps 600 Miccosukees.

One-third of them comprise the nation. They live off the edge of Route 41 on a strip 500 feet wide and six miles deep. They have a restaurant, gift shop, a grocery store, a filling station, and some new chickees. These are Indian dwellings with thatched roofs and half walls resting on upright posts. They are built in groups of four, with a community kitchen and common ground between.

Over three years ago, Buffalo Tiger ran for the office of chief of the nation. He did not purr with the forked tongue of the White Man, but he told the council that the Miccosukees and all their great traditions would die unless something was done to hold the people and their way of life together. He had married a white woman named Phoebe Puryear, and the elders do not think much of mixed marriage. He was the sixth Indian to do this.

The Miccosukees oppose desegration. Still, Buffalo Tiger's squaw gave him seven sons and daughters and he seemed to be the last hope. So, in the tradition of the White Man and his despised laws, all adult Indians, including women [illegible] Tiger became chief in a legitimate election.

Recently, he was elected for a second 3-year-term. He put on his fokseekee, a jacket with lateral stripes of many hues, and held summit conferences with the Seminoles. They agreed to ask the Florida legislature for a final, last-ditch grant of land—in effect, a fourth treaty.

Florida gave the land, a strip of swamp with some grazing land near Okeechobee. The state is ready to sign it over to the U. S. Government, and Tiger is learning to buttonhole Congressmen for votes. The White Man can afford to drag his feet. The Indian can't. The Miccosukees are so poor they pay no income tax.

Buffalo Tiger is completing an Indian School to keep the bucks and young maidens from succumbing to such strong White medicine as Rock n' Roll. Some go to Miami—40 miles east — for jobs, and do not come back. Children will learn English and geography and history five days a week, and will study Miccosukee tradition on Sundays.

They will learn how to make healing medicines from herbs and roots. God is called The Breathmaker. When an Indian dies, the students will learn, the good ones will climb in spirit to the Milky Way, which is called the Dog Track in Miccosukee. The bad Indian will make the same climb, but will find the Milky Way is dark. In his terror, he will be swallowed by a big bird.

Buffalo Tiger is ready to smoke the pipe of peace. I would like to be present when it is passed to President Johnson and he takes his first drag.

Y Leader Named New President of Social Agencies

Election of Louis H. Schafer, executive director of the YMCA, as president of the Ulster County Council of Social Agencies, took place during the June meeting this week at the YWCA, 209 Clinton Avenue.

LOUIS H. SCHAFER

Other Officers

Serving with Schafer during the 1965-66 year will be:

George Habernig, Ulster County office of Health, Education and Welfare, as first vice-president; John Darcy, director of the Ulster County Community Chest, second vice-president; Mrs. Gloria Usher, Catholic Charities, recording secretary; Miss Kathleen Shurter, Kingston school system, corresponding secretary and E. Robert Johnson, director of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, treasurer.

Executive committee members include Mrs. Kirtland Snyder, retiring president; Miss Rose Marie Feeney, Ulster County Welfare Department and Robert Kurland, director of the Jewish Community Center.

Schafer, who for many years has been active in community affairs, is a member of the Mayor's three-man commission to promote physical fitness among youth. He was elected president of Mid-Hudson YMCA Secretaries in 1957 and most recently was honored by the Kingston Newspaper Guild with its Page One award for community service.

Schafer, in accepting the high post of the Social Agencies, pledged to continue the work fostered by the Council and asked all members for their support and ideas in order to make the coming year a successful one.

Mrs. Diana Geiger, executive director for Ulster County Mental Health Association, invited all to attend the first Ulster County Antique Flea Market at Dietz Stadium on Saturday, June 19. "The success of the show will help the association in promoting the work that is being done for the mental ill in our county," she stressed.

Kramer Is Speaker

Guest speaker was Bernhardt S. Kramer, field consultant of Albany District for Economic Opportunity. He outlined the national legislation program on poverty which became law in August, 1964 and added: "35 million people or one-fifth of the total population need help. These people are unemployable as they do not have the skills needed to obtain jobs through employment agencies. Economic growth cannot take care of these ill. Immediate attention is giving to the young people to place them in the job corps training camps. They do not in many cases stay in their own state but can be sent to any of the 50 states where they are taught basic skills, how to get along with people, good working habits, basic reading, writing and speech. There also is a work study program for higher learning and said there are direct grants to colleges for these programs. We are rapidly reaching a period that anyone who desires can get a college education.

Under this program there is a program for those over 21—these are welfare recipients who are not able to find jobs because they have no skills. These people are taught basic skills which will enable them to find employment and in time will not need welfare assistance. Rural areas are also assisted through this program, farmers and small business people can receive loans. This is one of our most flexible laws and can change as the needs arise to root out the problems of poverty." A question and answer period followed.

The Council recessed for the summer and the next meeting will be held Sept. 14 at the YWCA.

Completes 54th Year as Banker With Trust Co.

GORDON A. CRAIG SR.

A prominent Kingston banker, Gordon A. Craig Sr., today marks his 54th year of service with Kingston Trust Co.

Craig entered the employ of the bank, then known as Kingston National Bank, June 11, 1911, after serving as assistant physical director of the Kingston YMCA. His experience soon extended to all department of the bank, and he was elected assistant treasurer several years ago. In 1951 he was named secretary of the Trust Company, and in 1956 became auditor. Now semi-retired, Craig serves the bank in an advisory capacity.

Prominently identified with civic and fraternal activities in this area for many years, Craig is a Past Master of Kingston Lodge 10, F&AM, and has headed several area Masonic bodies.

He also is Past Grand Lecturer, Greene-Ulster District, Order of Eastern Star, State of New York, and past District Deputy Grand Master, Greene-Ulster Masonic District.

The Craigs have one son, Gordon A. Craig Jr., also residing in Port Ewen.

Wagner Eligible For N. Y. Pension

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor Robert F. Wagner, who announced Thursday he will not seek a fourth term, will be eligible for a pension after he leaves City Hall next Dec. 31.

Wagner, who said he had no immediate plans for the future, has been getting $50,000 a year as mayor. The size of his pension will be determined by the contributions he has made to pension fund since he was first elected state assemblyman in 1937 and by the payment option he chooses.

Chance for Retarded In State Jobs Is Aim

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller called today for a study "to develop procedures which will result in employment opportunities" in the state civil service system for the mentally retarded.

"Such employment," he said, "would lead the way and set an example for other public and private employers in the nation." Rockefeller said that he would ask the Interdepartmental Health and Hospital Council and the Governor's Council on Rehabilitation to conduct the study.

Rockefeller made his remarks in a speech prepared for the annual meeting of the governor's committee on employ the handicapped.

Rocky Predicts Republicans to Win Back Control

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says the current long session of the Legislature "could have placed New York in a very serious mess" and made it "a disgrace to the nation" if it were not for the Republican minority members.

In a luncheon speech Thursday to members of the Republican State Committee and other party leaders, Rockefeller said the current session of the Legislature — under Democratic control for the first time in 30 years —is "a difficult one."

He predicted the Republicans will recapture control of the Legislature at the Nov. 2 election.

The Republican State Committee, which met in the afternoon, elected Guy A. Graves Jr. of Schenectady as secretary to succeed Lyle W. Hornbeck of Syracuse who resigned after serving six years.

Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, speaking Thursday night at the annual $100-a-plate, fund-raising dinner of the Republican State Committee, said the GOP "objects to both the radical left and the radical right."

The dinner, in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, was attended by 2,800 persons.

Oyster Bay Man Is On Cornell Board Again

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller today reappointed Arthur H. Dean of Oyster Bay, L.I., as a member of the Board of Trustees of Cornell University.

Senate confirmation is required for the unsalaried post. The reappointment is for a term ending June 30, 1970.

Dean, 66, is an attorney and a graduate of Cornell and the Cornell Law School.

He represented the United States and 16 other nations during negotiations at Panmunjon at the end of the Korean War. Dean also served as a special ambassador to the Republic of Korea in 1953 and 1954.

THE DOW-JONES INDUSTRIAL AVERAGE

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 11—In our annual forecast published in this paper December 31, we stated that the Dow-Jones Industrial Average could push up to 1,000. That day the Dow stood at 874.13. Most readers then felt that we were too optimistic. However today, despite the mid-spring shakeout in the market, we are sticking to this forecast that the Dow Industrials will reach at least 1,000 in 1965. Of course, there may be reactions such as the one touched off by Chairman Martin's remarks concerning the similarities between certain economic conditions today and in 1929. Nevertheless, we feel that the May high of 939 on the Dow Industrials will be exceeded before Christmas.

What Does the Dow Industrial Average Include?

The Dow-Jones Industrial Average is made up of 30 active common stocks representing a number of the greatest corporations in America. They are as follows:

Allied Chemical, Aluminum Co., American Can, American Tel. & Tel., American Tobacco, Anaconda, Bethlehem Steel, Chrysler, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, General Electric, General Foods, General Motors, Goodyear, Int. Harvester, Int. Nickel, Int. Paper, Johns-Manville, Owens-Illinois, Proctor & Gamble, Sears Roebuck, Std. Oil of Calif., Std. Oil of N.J., Swift & Co., Texaco, Union Carbide, United Aircraft, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse - Electric, Woolworth.

Besides the Industrials, there are two other Dow-Jones Averages,—one for the rails and one for the utilities. However, for the purpose of this discussion, we shall confine ourselves to the Industrial Average. That is the "Average" which is best known. It is the one that everyone talks about. The others are of interest chiefly to technical market students who study the action of all three and by complicated processes try to determine where the stock market is going.

Do the Industrials Represent the Stock Market?

There are 1575 U. S. companies listed on the N. Y. Stock Exchange alone; not to mention the many additional concerns on the American Stock Exchange and the vast number traded on the over-the-counter markets. Thus, it seems rather foolish to think of the Dow Industrials as representative of the whole market for U. S. stocks. Not only is this brief list of 30 stocks unrepresentative, but it is also "doctored up" by the mathematicians who run the Average. By this we mean that adjustments have to be made continually for stock splits, stock dividends, etc.

Also, in a handful of 30 issues, if one stock has a really big rise the effect on the "average" can be quite misleading. Just think what would have happened to the Dow Industrials if the men who run it had included International Business Machines, — or even Xerox, Polaroid, or Syntex? Had such issues been in there, the fabled figure of 1,000 for the Dow would look commonplace by now. Just recently, duPont ran up about 20 points and the Industrials jumped. Then, when the anticipated dividend increase did not materialize, it ran down again. Brokerage house wags are now saying: "As duPoint goes, so goes the Dow!"

What Makes the Dow-Jones Average Move?

What we have especially in mind today is not the technical nature of the Dow-Jones Average. We have gone into that in detail a number of times in the past. Despite certain shortcomings, the Dow Gives a good picture of major market moves over a long period of time,—even if somewhat deceiving from day to day. What everyone wants to know is what makes the Dow Industrial Average move, up or down. The answer is: Events. When we were an agricultural country at the turn of the century, we used to watch crops most attentively. Our country was then the breadbasket of Europe. Good crops made good times. Good times made the stock market go up. Crop failures were distinctly bearish.

But in this Atomic Age we have to look beyond our border for events that may influence the Dow. The whole world is our backyard. South Vietnam, Santo Domingo, the Congo, China, etc. are the places making the events that move the market up or down. These are the places that give President Johnson his "headaches." These are the areas that touch off the "brush fires" which could lead to conflagrations. This means that our readers should also watch what goes on in China, in Russia, in Colombia and other "forgotten spots," for unexpected events that could sharply affect the stock market. As the Industrials move toward 1,000, what happens in faraway places may have more to do with day-to-day price movements than the domestic business news.

Listed Last in Spelling Bee, but He's the Champ

By JOSEPH R. COYNE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michael Kerpan Jr. was listed last on the program and was the last speller to compete in each round of the 38th annual National Spelling Bee.

But today the 12-year-old son of a Tulsa, Okla., police sergeant comes first — he reigns as the champion.

Wearing a large card with a 70 written on it, Michael defeated the 69 other youngsters in two days of competition which ended Thursday when his chief rival — tiny, brown-haired Judy Marie Guarr, 12, of Topeka, Kan., stumbled on the word "larghetto," a musical term. She spelled it without the H.

Michael spelled it correctly and iced his victory by spelling the required extra word, in this case "eczema," a skin rash.

A seventh grader at Saints Peter and Paul School in Tulsa, Michael is an avid reader, a Boy Scout, a coin and stamp collector and the oldest of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kerpan Sr. He has a brother and two sisters.

An excited Mrs. Kerpan said later Michael told her he would win the contest but Michael said he really didn't think he would.

The school Michael attends doesn't give grades to students but Mrs. Kerpan said he has scored in the top one per cent nationally on achievement tests in a variety of subjects.

"He keeps a book in every room in the house," Mrs. Kerpan said. "If he stops to tie his shoe, he picks up a book. If I want to punish him, I just don't let him go to the library."

Michael's sponsor in the contest, the Tulsa Tribune, said the lad studied 100,000 words in preparation for the Oklahoma State Spelling Bee.

First prize was $1,000 in cash, a weekend trip to New York and a visit to the World's Fair.

The contest was sponsored by Scripps-Howard Newspapers in 16 cities and 53 other daily and Sunday newspapers.

Student Charged For Marijuana

Charged with two counts involving unlawful possession of marijuana, John Kevin O'Leary, 20-year-old Bard College student, who resides at 32 Cherry Tree Road, Loudonville, was taken into custody on Thursday.

Dutchess County Sheriff Lawrence M. Quinlan, who took part in the investigation with Max Shaffer, an agent of the State Narcotics Control Board, Chief Deputy Charles Borchers and Deputy Sheriff Albert Traver, said O'Leary pleaded innocent before County Judge John R. Schwartz late yesterday.

O'Leary was released in $1,000 bail. Quinlan said the student is charged with unlawful possession of drugs and violating the State Public Health Law.

The sheriff said the investigation, which has been under way for some time, will be continued by his office and agents from the State Department of Health, New York City. Quinlan told a reporter that about an ounce of marijuana was seized in O'Leary's room at the college near Annandale-on-the-Hudson, where the arrest was made.

Mitchell, Palen Back

Mayor John J. Schwenk today announced reappointment of Thomas J. Mitchell, of 34 Madison Avenue, and Ralph Palen, of 88 West O'Reilly Street, to the Board of Electrical Examiners. Their terms are for three years. Mitchell has served as the board's president.

Kingston City Court Cases Today

A local man charged with malicious mischief was sentenced in city court today and two other defendants were given suspended sentences.

Donald Sass, 38, of 51 North Front Street, charged by Mrs. Bertha Hoffman, of the same address, with breaking two windows, was sentenced to 11 days already served in jail, and payment of a fine of $250 was suspended on condition that he make restitution for the damage.

Allen Meade Jones, 16, of Box 260, East Kingston, charged recently with having taken money from the MJM School, had pleaded guilty May 28 and today was given a suspended sentence of 30 days in jail and was placed on probation. The amount taken was said to be less than $100.

Robert Bailey, 19, of 138 Delaware Avenue, charged with having exploded firecrackers in the city recently, was given a suspended sentence.

Improper Turn Charged

Ronald C. Roosa, 23, of Accord, was charged with making an improper turn after a two-car mishap on Broadway near Liberty Street Thursday afternoon. The other car, police said, was driven by George A. Schoenherr, 17, of New Paltz. Roosa is due in city court Saturday.

Port Ewen Woods Fire

Port Ewen firefighters were dispatched shortly before 10:45 a. m. today to the Salem Street area to extinguish a brisk woods fire, according to Mutual Aid headquarters.

Choir Entertains Kiwanis Members, List 13 Awards

It was young folks day at the Kingston Kiwanis Club's Thursday luncheon, as members of Leonard H. Stine's A Cappella Choir made its annual visit and entertained with vocal numbers, and the 13 students chosen for the annual Kiwanis Scholarships were honored.

The program, arranged by Raymond Garraghan, program chairman, featured Vincent Connelly, chairman of the Scholarship Awards committee, who presented the 13 students who were recipients of the 1965 awards.

The $500 scholarship awards were given to Michael J. Misove, Terrance E. Burns, Maris Tirums, Gregory Munson, and John E. Jones. The Ulster County Community College awards went to Catherine Northcutt, Joan Peischel and Linda Backenroth; Nursing awards were given to Elizabeth Piriggi, Diane Greer, and Jennifer Miller; the Ruby Appel teaching award went to Joanne C. Caughey, while the Morris Samter Award was given to Robert Steeger.

The members of the A Cappella Chior received an ovation from the Kiwanians after the rendition of several numbers under the personal direction of Stine.

Both Sides . . .

Steward of Huntsville, Ala., led men of the 118th Aviation Company through heavy Viet Cong fire to evacuate the wounded, military officials said.

The Viet Cong held parts of Dong Xoai through the night and hammered at government positions.

Bold Move Pays Off

Government planes blasted the town with napalm and bombs, leveling a small Catholic church, the former government headquarters and several enemy strongpoints.

A bold move by Brig. Gen. Cao Van Vien, commander of the 3rd Army Corps, broke the Communist offensive.

The original defenders of Dong Xoai were making a desperate stand when Vien ordered his 52nd Ranger Battalion airlifted into the battle area. Vien's men retook the district headquarter compound and captured a large stock of Viet Cong weapons. The rangers lost at least 30 dead and 15 wounded.

The first reinforcements — a battalion of 300 infantrymen — were flown into the Dong Xoai area Thursday morning after the Viet Cong overran the town and smashed a Special Forces camp a mile away.

Only Three Survive

The battalion of reinforcements was attacked soon after landing. Today only three survivors could be found. The rest were dead or missing, including three American advisers.

A battalion of paratroopers was flown into Dong Xoai by helicopter early today. Their arrival turned the tide for the government forces.

Most of the American casualties occurred in the Special Forces camp, where 20 or 21 American advisers were stationed training the Vietnamese.

The American toll also included the crews of two helicopters lost during the fighting Thursday. It was believed at least four Americans were aboard each.

Thousands of refugee tribesmen poured into Dong Xoai from the jungle today, presumably to escape the air attacks on th Viet Cong. But government officers feared the Viet Cong might try to use them as a human shield between the Communists and the government troops.

Infiltration Possible

It was also suspected that Viet Cong infiltrators might be among the tribesmen.

While the infantry and the paratroopers battled at Dong Xoai, about 1,500 Vietnamese marines took up positions around Saigon, apparently on guard against anti-government riots while military leaders discussed the political controversy between Premier Phan Huy Quat and Phan Khac Suu, chief of state.

A number of the armed forces' leaders began meeting in Saigon Thursday to discuss the political trouble. Quat had appealed to them to mediate the dispute, which he said was threatening his government.

Ground was broken in Saigon today for a new U.S. Embassy. The old building was damaged last March when a terrorist bomb killed two Americans and 10 Vietnamese and injured many persons, including Deputy Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson.

The embassy staff is using the old building until its new quarters are ready about a mile away.

U.S. Assistant Secretary of Defense John T. McNaughton told newsmen in Washington that it is estimated about 47,000 full-time Communist regulars are now fighting in organized combat units in South Viet Nam.

Five months ago U.S. officials estimated this hard core at between 29,000 and 35,000. In late April, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara raised the figures to between 38,000 and 46,000.

McNaughton said most of the 47,000 are infiltrators from North Viet Nam. He described them as "the brains, the backbone and the cement of the whole movement."

Capitol News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) —White House reporters have protested a decision to bar a small "pool" of newsmen from the presidential plane for trips on which no coverage problems are expected.

The protests followed press secretary George E. Reedy's there would be no pool on Presannouncement Thursday that there would be no pool on President Johnson's scheduled trip to Texas today to greet the astronauts.

The press pool arrangement was set up during the last years of the Eisenhower administration.

Pool representatives usually included one each from The Associated Press and United Press International, one from a radio or television network and one from a magazine or newspaper.

Charles W. Bailey of Cowles Publications said, "I for one would like to enter a protest against this decision." Several "seconds" to his statement followed.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to extend a helpinghand to the folk singer and the opera star, the historian and the philosopher.

Without dissent Thursday it passed an administration measure which would create a National Foundation on the Arts and the Humanities. The bill still must win ouse approval before going to the President.

The legislation authorizes a money program which could be as low as $30 million or as high as $60 million in each of three years.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new, portable aluminum stage to match the architecture of the East Room has been presented to the White House as a gift by Mrs. Rebekah Harkness of New York.

The stage will not be ready for use until the fall, the White House said Thursday, but an architectural rendering in color was presented to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson Thursday night by Mrs. Harkness.

Alleged Burglar Held for Jury

Ronald J. Anderton, 34, of 7 West Strand, who police said was caught in the act of burglary at the B & F Market, 32 Broadway, recently, wa. held for grand jury action after preliminary city court hearing today.

Police apprehended Anderton after a tipoff that a man had entered the market. Another tipoff earlier this year resulted in his arrest for an alleged burglary at the West End Brewery (Utica Club) warehouse, 12 Chambers Street. Police then said they had confiscated three cases of beer and a clock said to have been taken from the warehouse.

A grand jury, however, returned no indictment in dealing with the earlier alleged offense because of reported lack of proof to connect him definitely with the theft.

Anderton represented himself in court today and Assistant District Attorney James H. Fisher appeared for t' prosecution.

'Please Bury Him,' May Be Baby Clue

AMSTERDAM, N.Y. (AP)—A note which read, This is my baby. . .please bury him. . ." today provided police with some clue as to the identity of a baby boy found dead in a sidewalk telephone booth

The body was discovered Thursday after an anonymous telephone call lead police to the body, wrapped in a zippered, canvas bag. The note was attached to the bag.

Police said the body was blood-stained and the head bruised. Coroner Michael Kizun reported the boy was two or three weeks old.

The body was found shortly after noon Thursday. Kizun said the boy had been dead three or four hours. An autopsy was ordered.

Wagner Move . . .

appeared almost certain with at least three factions fighting for control. They include Wagner's proteges; Kennedy's backers and elements of the reform movement.

The primary election will be held Sept. 14, and three or four rival slates could shape up by then.

On the Republican side, Wagner's withdrawal meant that campaign strategy likely would have to be re-evaluated.

Wagner Not Target, Lindsay

Lindsay said: "He (Wagner) will always remain a great New Yorker and he will have the gratitude of the people of New York. But the people of our city also feel that New York needs a change. They feel that the complacent arteries of our city administration are badly in need of a transfusion.

"The target has never been Bob Wagner. My campaign will be a fusion campaign to give the city a new life."

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said in Milwaukee Wagner's decision probably would lead to "a real donnybrook," but that Lindsay's chances, as a fusion candidate, have improved 25 per cent.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York said, however, that he did not think Wagner's decision would have any major effect on Lindsay's campaign.

"Whoever comes in will be someone who is identified with the Democratic administration," said Rockefeller.

Picnickers Given Warning About Food Poisoning

ALBANY — You can prevent food poisoning, the State Health Department reminds picnickers, cookout enthusiasts and food handlers. Its booklet on Food Poisoning lists safety rules.

These popular picnic foods are also favorites of the bacteria that cause food poisoning: precooked egg, meat, fish or vegetable salads, cream fillings, or sandwiches made with egg, meat, fish or fowl.

Troublesome bacteria grow best in a temperature between 68 degrees F and 115 degrees F. Food can become unfit at these temperatures in an hour or two, even though it looks, smells and tastes all right.

A good rule to follow is "When in doubt, throw it out." Food poisoning, with its symptoms of vomiting or dysentery, is rarely very serious but it can be fatal.

Some helpful pointers:

Keep pre-cooked food cold. Use shallow pans so it will chill quickly and then reheat clear through in a short time.

Cook as many foods as possible at the picnic site. Carry raw meat in ice or insulated containers to cook there; mix salad ingredients there and avoid cream dressings.

Keep everything clean—hands, cooking and eating utensils. No one with a skin infection, nose and throat infection or stomach upset should handle the food.

Use safe foods like fresh fruit, cheese, peanut butter, jelly sandwiches, commercially canned food.

Reheat leftovers and all precooked foods clear through before eating.

Refrigerate all cold foods by icing or other means. Storing food in insulated containers out of the sun helps to keep it at temperatures below 50 degrees F.

The Department pamphlet on the subject is available by writing, Food Poisoning, Office of Public Health Education, 84 Holland Avenue, Albany, 2208 or at county, city or district health offices.

War Declaration Not Needed in Viet Nam: Taylor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor was quoted as telling the Senate Foreign Relations committee today there is no reason for a declaration of war in Viet Nam.

Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., leaving the closed session early, said Taylor reported that the fighting is still a Vietnamese affair.

"He was a little more frank than usual," Aiken said of the ambassador's briefing "but he told us nothing to create any great amount of optimism.

"And he told us there was no advantage in or reason to declare war on anyone by anyone."

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and other critics of U.S. policy contend that this country is fighting an undeclared war in Viet Nam and President Johnson should ask for such a declaration before continuing to escalate the fighting.

Morse has expressed doubts the American people would support such a declaration.

Aiken, another critic of U.S. policy, told the Senate that in its present mood he thought Congress would vote such a declaration.

Fine Jersey Man $50 After Crash

A New Jersey truck driver paid fines aggregating $50 today, after pleading guilty before Justice of the Peace Linn Baker, Town of Lloyd, to two motor vehicle violations resulting from an accident.

Sergeant William Cameron, Highland State Police, reported Russell Jackson, 22, of Passaic, N. J., was driving a tractor-trailer with a load of brick east on Route 209 when he was unable to stop at the intersection of Route 9W.

The tractor-trailer owned by the Mid-State Bridge Supply, Co., of East Rutherford, N. J., collided with a car operated south on Route 9W by Donald Whitaker, 44, of Saugerties. No injuries were reported.

Jackson was summoned by Troopers Harry Foster and Wallace Mahan on charges of passing a stop sign and operating without a license. He pleaded guilty to both violations and was fined $25 on each charge.

Humphrey Stresses Job Discrimination Fight

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey says the federal government is pledged to put an end to job discrimination.

"We'll walk that extra mile to achieve voluntary compliance," Humphrey told more than 800 business leaders at the Northwest Regional Plans for Progress Conference Thursday night.

"But let everyone be assured of one thing: We intend for these standards to be observed and we intend to expand the opportunities for individuals in this country."

Humphrey said strides have been made and cited statistics from 100 companies. He said 27.9 per cent of the total increase in employment from 1963 to 1964 went to non-whites.

Voting Data

NEW PALTZ—The Board of Education wishes to make sure that all voters understand the voting procedure to be used Thursday, June 10 when casting their vote for the new high school. It should be clearly understood that regardless of how one votes on the mai proposition he may still indicate a choice of site. The main proposition is located on the amendment line in the voting machine. Directly below on Row A and Row B is located the choice of sites. There will be members of the League of Women Voters present Thursday to explain to any voter this procedure.

Poetry Readings

The New Paltz Central High Humanities Class listened to the internationally noted poet, George Montgomery. Mr. Montgomery has given poetry reading throughout the United States and Canada. He has been in association with such noted poets and novelists as Allen Ginsburg and Jack Kerouc. During the past decade George Montgomery has worked as a steel worker, stock car racer, trick rider, stunt man, lumberjack, baggage clerk, engineer, landscape artist, and dog trainer.

Montgomery's reading dealt with avant garde poetry and his own relationship to the beat poetry and his own relationship to the beat movement. At the beginning he read part of Kadish by Allen Ginsburg and then proceeded to read several of his own poems. Mr. Gersh, who is a close associate of Mr. Montgomery, was responsible for bringing the poet to the Humanities Class.

Revival Series

The revival services at the New Paltz Church of the Nazarene have been well attended.

The closing services with the Rev. Claude Jones will be Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. The public may attend these meetings.

Vipers of Italy

ROME (AP) — Many woodland sections of Italy are still infested by vipers, the poisonous snake whose bite sometimes causes death. Danger areas often are marked with signs put up by the state reading:

"Danger: Zone infested by vipers."

TIZZY By KATE OSANN

"This one brings back memories of a summer romance —but I can't remember which summer or which romance!"

DO YOU REMEMBER

By Sophie Miller

I have a letter I cherish from Carl Carmer, famous author on books on the Hudson River. It is dated Oct. 27, 1957 which reads in part: "Some time after I received your card informing me that the Clermont replica lies at the bottom of a lagoon in Kingston Point Park, the Knickerbocker News informed me that several skin divers had been commissioned by the paper to investigate its condition. Since I have heard nothing further from the paper, I assume that the divers failed to make the attempt, or made it and found nothing."

Mr. Carmer further writes: "Your suggestion that the 1959 celebration make possible the restoration of the Kingston Point Park and the Dayline dock meets with my hearty approval. As you know, my earnest desire is that the celebration will create a public demand for the restoration of all such worthy landmarks along the river."

Mr. Carmer finishes his letter of 1957 with: "I am most grateful for your interest and hope that you will communicate with me, from time to time, as to any further ideas you may have for our enterprises. Cordially, (signed) Carl Carmer." At the time, Carl Carmer was chairman on the Governor's Committee, for the 1959 Hudson-Champlain celebration.

I am sort of going through and collecting items on the Hudson and Fulton because of the Fulton stamp which I understand will be serviced in our Central Post Office in Kingston on Aug. 19, and I just designed a cachet, or illustrated envelope showing a line drawing of Fulton looking down on his Clermont, for those stamp and cachet collectors who wish an illustrated envelope for their Robert Fulton-Clermont stamp.

I always felt that our city should list itself as Kingston-on-the-Hudson. Fulton left on the Clermont on Aug. 17, 1807 from New York City at one in the afternoon. They traveled somewhere around five miles an hour. They stopped once for repairs, and two times for wood for fuel, and over-night at Clermont, and then arrived at Albany on Aug. 19 1807. Therefore I printed the legend on the envelope: "Robert Fulton's Clermont which passed Kingston, On-the-Hudson Aug. 18, 1807. Under Fulton's drawing I printed "Fulton b. 1765." These dates belong to Kingston I feel, and stamp collectors or U. S. covers or cachet collectors may be interested to have one that pertains to their hometown. (Fulton was born on Nov. 14, 1765. The Clermont arrived at Albany on Aug. 19, 1807, that is, no doubt the reason why the Fulton stamp will be out in 1965 on Aug. 19. I understand there will be specialists from the Washington, D. C. post office to see that the first day issue stamps will be cancelled not only properly but carefully, as each one belongs and becomes a collector's item right after Aug. 19.

History tells us that Benjamin West, an American portrait artist, famous in London welcomed American artists at his home, like Fulton and our Vanderlyn. Little is known about Vanderlyn by the public at large, even on Columbus Day when his reproductions of Landing of Columbus is reprinted everywhere. I, as a product of the Kingston school system, never heard of Vanderlyn until I found his work myself. It so happens that Vanderlyn did two portraits of Robert Fulton and I do hope I will be able to get a photograph of one or both. Then I will tell my readers all about it.

Our Congratulations, Graduates of 1965

Earns Degree In Education

The former Sharon Parnett, now Mrs. Michael Lozman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Parnett, 17 Sharon Lane, Kingston, will receive her BS degree in Elementary Education from Fairleigh-Dickinson University, Teaneck, New Jersey, on Saturday, June 12. Commencement exercises will be held on the Fairleigh-Dickinson campus at Madison, New Jersey.

The United States Ambassador to Brazil, Lincoln Gordon, will deliver the commencement address. He will also be awarded an honorary degree from Fairleigh-Dickinson University.

Mrs. Lozman is a graduate of Kingston High School, 1957. She entered Wilkes College, Wilkes-Barre, Pa. that same year. During her progression toward a college degree, she also studied at Moran - Spencierian Business School, Kingston, and was awarded a secretarial degree there. She was subsequently employed as secretary for the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

After her marriage to Michael Lozman of New York City in June 1960, Mrs. Lozman accompanied her husband throughout the two years of his army career.

In September, 1962, Mrs. Lozman returned to academic studies at Fairleigh-Dickinson University and during her attendance there she has been on both Dean's lists and Honors

MRS. MICHAEL LOZMAN

Lists several times. Upon completion of graduation requirements in January, 1965, Mrs. Lozman began teaching in an enriched teaching program in the Tidgemwood Public School system, Ridgewood, N. J. She will teach sixth grade at Ridgewood during the coming year.

Mr. Lozman is attending dental school at Fairleigh-Dickinson University, where he will enter his Junior year in the fall.

Six Graduated at Marist

FRANCIS MICHAEL KOENIG, son of Mrs. Frank Koenig, 85 Andrew Street, who majored in history. He was treasurer of the Freshman Class, Young Democratic Club and the History Club and was senior representative on the Student Council. He was on the dean's list. A graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1961, he intends to do graduate study.

PATRICK V. BERARDI, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Berardi, Box 222, Kingston, who received a Bachelor of Arts in history. His college activities were Theatre Guild, Ski Club, Language Club, Yearbook staff and Student Council, 1961. He graduated from Kingston High School in 1960.

ROBERT W. PETRUSKI, son of Mrs. Augusta Petruski, 41 Hudson Street, and a Kingston High School graduate 1961, he received a Bachelor of Arts degree in business administration. He was a member of the Booster Club and was business manager of the college yearbook. He plans a business career.

JOHN J. ROSE, of Route 3, Box 409, Saugerties, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Rose of New York City, who majored in physics. He is a graduate of Mt. St. Michael High School, New York City, 1962, and New York State Maritime College, 1956. He is employed by Hercules Powder Company.

Four students from Kingston and two from Saugerties received degrees at the 19th commencement exercises of Marist College, Poughkeepsie, Sunday.

Alexander Aldrich, executive assistant to Governor Rockefeller, who addressed the graduating class, said that non-involvement in this age of great challenge is the most serious threat to our future.

He further told the graduates "do not hesitate to stand up and be counted when you are confronted with issues of importance to you and the nation.

"If you look the other way," he warned, "you will risk wasting your life in the pursuit of security and mere entertainment during an era when space exploration, race relations, and international change present new horizons for human achievement.

Aldrich, a 37-year-old attorney who already has devoted 10 years of his life to governmental service, urged the Marist graduates to be ready to take a stand on the great issues of our times. "Just be sure," he advised, "that when you do take a stand, you choose your ground wisely, with reverence for God, and concern for the best interest of your fellow men.

Aldrich expressed concern about the importance this generation places on security and preservation of the status quo, but indicated his conviction that this nation would never have achieved its present stature had our forebearers been more interested in security than in meeting the challenges and achieving the opportunities this land offered them.

As a trustee of Marist, he told the graduating class, "you are entering the labyrinth of modern life, and a modern minotaur lies within—the modern monster of non-involvement. It is a solemn responsibility for each of you," he concluded, to build upon the spiritual and intellectual foundation which you have developed here at Marist, and to face the future with the courage of a fully committed human being."

RAYMOND B. SCALLY of 6 Boxwood Court, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond B. Scally, 930-75th Street, Brooklyn, who majored in mathematics. He was graduated from Brooklyn Technical High School in June 1954.

Plans for future include taking the International Business Machines Corp. graduate course, doing graduate work through Syracuse University starting in September.

FREDERICK J. WADNOLA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick C. Wadnola, 5 Elmwood Street, received a Bachelor of Arts in history and social studies. He was a Kingston High School graduate in 1956. Mr. Wadnola was vice president of the Senior Class and was on the dean's list in 1964 and 1965. His activities included the Marist College Booster Club, History Club, Young Republican Club, Knights of Columbus, Champagnat Council 5679, chairman of Winter Weekend, Curriculum Evaluation Committee, Student proctor, assistant director of public relations for two years. Doing graduate study at State University College, New Paltz, is his plan for the future.

Handle With Care

NEW YORK (AP) — Some companies apparently care a lot about the comfort of their customers. Toward this end, a company called Dunkin Donuts' has applied for a patent on a doughnut with its own dunking handle. The company is distributing it through nearly 250 shops around the country.

The firm's chairman of the board, William Rosenberg, explains that now, thanks to the handy doughnut with a doughnut-dough handle, " a customer can be well mannered and also keep his fingers dry when he's dunkin'."

Will Address New Paltz State College Graduates

The speaker at the 78th Commencement exercises at State University College, New Paltz June 14 at 10:30 a. m. will be Dr. Oliver J. Caldwell, acting associate commissioner, U.S. Office of Education and director of the Bureau of International Education.

A foremost leader in international education, Dr. Caldwell was born in Foochow, China, of American missionary parents. He holds degrees from Oberlin College, Baldwin-Wallace College and the LI.D. from Ithaca University. He was professor of English at universities at Amoy and Nanking, China, prior to World War II and assisted in the University of Nanking's move to Chengtu after the Japanese attack of 1938. During World War II, Dr. Caldwell served as a captain and major in the U.S. Army and was acting head of psychological warfare operations in China, Burma and India. He was public relations officer for the Associated Boards of Christian Colleges in China from 1938 to 1943 and chief of the program development staff, educational exchange service, U.S. International Information Administra tion in 1951. In his present position, he develops many international educational projects including the teacher exchange program, recruitment for educators going abroad and technical assistance programs.

A total of 516 seniors will receive Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science degrees. The Master's degree will be awarded to 171. Of the 687 in the graduating class, four are from foreign countries which include Kenya, Israel, Zanzibar and Sierra Leone.

Area Students Earn Degrees At Rochester

Three University of Rochester seniors from Ulster County received bachelor degrees at the June 6 Commencement. They are:

John Hetsco, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hetsco Sr., 880 Nicholas Avenue, Kingston, who received a Bachelor of Arts degree with a major in Political Science. A graduate of Kingston High School, he has been on the UR varsity football team.

Rudolph Alexander Rossman, son of Rudolph H. Rossmann, Bonnie Brae Lane, Shokan, who received a Bachelor of Science in Business Administration. He was a 1961 graduate of Onteora Central.

Daniel Davidson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Davidson, West Hurley, who was granted a Bachelor of Science in Physics. He also is a graduate of Onteora Central School.

Hetsco held Rochester Prize and Regents scholarships; Rossmann was holder of University of Rochester College scholarship; and Davidson, Regents Science and Engineering and University of Rochester College scholarships.

A Study in Retrospect

Congress, Supreme Court And Presidents of U. S.

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is switch time in American history when the President and the Supreme Court wear the big shoulders and the usually cantankerous Congress trots meekly behind President Johnson.

It wasn't always like this, may not be like this for long as Johnson gets deeper into his four-year term, deeper into the Vietnamese war, deeper into what he calls the "Great Society."

His November landslide victory, carrying his Democrats into crushing control of Congress, got him off to a good start unmatched since President Franklin D. Roosevelt's first name.

Technician Johnson has cajoled and cornered members of House and Senate into shouting "amen" to his programs. But this is an unusual condition for President and Congress. The natural condition is tooth and claw.

This Supreme Court under Chief Justice Earl Warren, strongest and most alive since the first 35 years of the 19th century when the captain was Chief Justice John Marshall, plunges in where Congress fears to tread.

In sweeping thrusts, one after the other, it has given motion to civil rights, new meaning to separation of church and state with its bans on compulsory school prayers, new protections to individuals, new political equality for voters with its rulings on reapportionment.

Contrasting Condition

In the truest sense it is a contemporary tribunal, in contrast with the court which barricaded Roosevelt's first four years.

He had to watch those unforgettable nine old men of the early 1930s, whose reasoning in most cases had not advanced beyond the last quarter of the 19th century, embalm his New Deal legislation so necessary in a new and tragic era.

In desperation he called for court-packing and failed, but in one sense only. His purpose was achieved while his plan was ignored.

Congress rebuffed him, left the court unchanged. But the justices, rendered self-conscious by attack, began peering at last into the 20th century and, starting in 1937, approving his programs.

Gets Green Light

It was in Roosevelt's first four years that Congress was even more submissive than it has been with Johnson. Confronted with depression disaster, it practically abdicated and gave Roosevelt a blank check

Gradually after 1937, when the country began to regain some self-assurance, Roosevelt's relations with Congress soured until the war. But all his troubles weren't a patch on President Truman's.

From 1947 until 1949 Truman had to cope with what he called the "80th do-nothing" Republican Congress. Two Republicans in particular, Sens. Robert A. Taft and Joseph R. McCarthy, made Truman's life and administration an obstacle race.

Climax, Korean War

This was while he tried to steer the country, and that part of the world which depended upon it, into the last half of the 20th century. As a climax, plastered wih criticism, he had to fight the Korean War.

President Eisenhower had it better but for reasons he didn't and couldn't control, his Republicans had a majority in Congress in only the first two of his eight years. After that the Democrats ran Congress.

They weren't submissive, they were cooperative up to a point, particularly in the Senate bossed by Lyndon B. Johnson. Therefore Eisenhower, because of this Democratic control, was never able to run Congress like a big daddy.

Congress pretty much ran with him. And no wonder. For one thing, it would have been bad politics to claw or mangle a popular hero like Eisenhower.

President Kennedy had no such luck. He won the presidency with a Democratic Congress which barely outnumbered the Republicans. He was endlessly frustrated. But then he never fought for his programs as Johnson does.

Now there is the era of good feelings, even if temporary.

Churches Campaign in 58 Countries

Illiteracy Goes Hand In Hand With Poverty

By DAVID LANCASHIRE

JERUSALEM, Jordan Sector (AP)—"My host was a headhunter.

"Of course he gave up that sort of thing when he became a Christian, but he was still proud of the photograph showing him with the skulls of his victims, and in a neighboring village not long ago, they cut off 34 heads."

The speaker was a spectacled, white - haired Englishwoman named Lily Quy, the first missionary allowed to enter northeast India's Nagaland for 10 years.

She didn't go to the primitive Indian state to campaign against head hunting, but to launch a program to teach the Nagas to read, write and start development programs to improve their villages.

"Nagaland has 17 languages, but almost none of the people can read or write any of them," Miss Quy recounts. "But in two weeks, 30 volunteers walked in from the hills for training, and then went back to the villages to teach literacy."

One of 40 Experts

Miss Quy, who has been spreading education and the Gospel in India since 1938, is one of about 40 experts from 23 countries who have been meeting in Jerusalem on ways to fulfill one of the world's great hungers—the hunger to read and write.

Few of the experts at the Jerusalem meeting have mingled with headhunters or dodged elephants in jeeps the way Miss Quy has, but all of them have faced the same problem of bringing knowledge and the urge for progress to countries where few have been to school.

The Jerusalem literacy seminar was sponsored by the Committee on World Literacy and Christian Literature. The committee, part of the U.S. National Council of Churches with headquarters in New York, is one of the organizations working with the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organizations and overseas governments to help wipe out illiteracy.

700 Million Can't Read

According to UNESCO figures, only 6 of every 10 persons in the world have ever been to school, and 700 million adults—including 8 million in the United States—can neither read nor write.

"Illiteracy is a waste of the world's resources, and the urge for education is a new revolution," says Dr. Floyd Shacklock, executive director of the committee, whose studies show that illiteracy goes hand in hand with poverty and disease.

To help bring the energy and progress that goes with reading and writing, the committee provides guidance and funds for Christian churches that are waging literacy campaigns in 58 countries.

Wandering Island

MAVROVO, Yugoslavia (AP) —There's a wandering island in the lake which supplies a hydroelectric power station here in Macedonia.

It was started by a landslide which fell into the lake, complete with grass and a few willow trees. Currents gradually moved it 12 kilometers across the lake to the shores of this village.

Farmers roped it to beech trees on the shore to keep it where it is.

Two Dead, 15 Injured in Fire At Jersey Hotel

PLAINFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Fire swept through the sprawling century-old Victoria Hotel today, taking at least 2 lives, injuring 15 persons and leaving 4 more missing.

Two bodies were recovered from the ruins and firemen began searching for other victims.

The three-story hotel is located near the business district of this central New Jersey community.

Over 100 Escape

More than 100 permanent and transient guests escaped the burning building located across the street from the main Fire Department headquarters.

A telephone dispatcher at the fire house spotted flames shooting from the second floor of the building and turned in ther first alarm at 2:36 a.m. The blaze was brought under control at 5 a.m.

Police said 12 persons were injured, including a policeman who suffered deep smoke inhalation in an attempt to rescue a 93-year-old woman trapped in the building.

The officer, Patrolman Robert Miller, was placed in an intensive-care unit at Muhlenberg Hospital and reported responding to treatment.

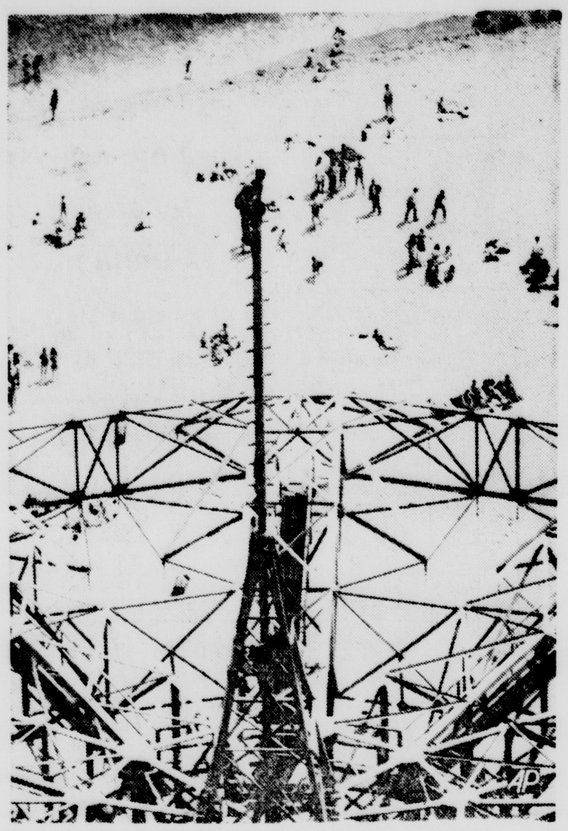

The woman, Frances Van Horn, was listed in good condition at the hospital.

Police said Miller collapsed after rescuing 10 or 12 persons inside the building.

Cause Unknown

The cause of the fire was not known immediately, but investigators believed it started on the second floor of the old frame building.

Police and firemen combed the ruins for bodies of other possible victims. "We expect to find several other bodies," Police Captain Milford Payne said.

"The State of New York, as part of its proper responsibility under our Federal system of government and with its tradition of pioneering action as exemplified by such things as the Erie Canal, the Forest Preserve and the more recent Park bond program for open space, must act to assure and protect the future benefits to the people which flow from this great resource. The State must plan now to assure these benefits which cover a wide range of concerns— recreational, industrial, historic, scenic, commercial, cultural, residential and aesthetic."

Under Governor Rockefeller's program, the Hudson River Valley Commission is charged with developing plans and recommendations for the best use of the Hudson as a natural resource. The Advisory Committee will review and make recommendations to the Commission on all phases of policy, and will assist the staff of the Commission in assembling basic material necessary to the formation of sound, comprehensive plans for the Valley.

The Commission intends, in carrying out the Governor's directive, to arrange meetings in the various sections of the Valley to hear proposals from local citizens groups, local governing bodies and local planning commissions so that citizens in the various towns and counties of the Valley will have full opportunity to express their views on a comprehensive Valley plan.

Members of the Advisory Committee from particular areas in the Valley will be invited to sit in with the Commission members at these regional meetings.

Supervisors . . .

Donald E. Gregory, adopting the plan.

The resolution noted that the Public Welfare Committee had investigated the program and that it appeared advantageous that the county participate in the program

Commissioner of Public Welfare Joseh Fitzsimons was authorized to advertise for bids for the distribution of surplus foods and the Welfare Committee was directed to report back at the next meeting of the board.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

$8,250 Tank Repair

On motion of Supervisor James A. Rapp, the board authorized the Pittsburgh Tank and Tower Company to make repairs to the water tank at the TB Hospital for the sum of $8,250. Arrangements were made in the annual budget to cover cost of cleaning and painting the 100,000 gallon tank. After water had been drained from the tank it was discovered the tank was very badly pitted and in need of repair. Brinnier and Larios, consulting engineers recommended that while the tank was empty it be sand-blasted and the thousands of pitted areas be filled by welding. Because of the emergency, the contract was awarded without competitive bidding.

A resolution by Supervisor Joseph Martorana, (R), Plattekill, seeking to have the Ulster County Fire Co-ordinator become an ex-officio member of the Ulster County Planning Board, was approved 17 to 14.

Martorana's resolution stated that planning for the conservation of water and the expansion of water resources is a matter of prime interest and concern specifically to firemanic organizations.

The resolution offered by Supervisor James A. Rapp, (R), that the recently appointed Ulster County Community Action Committee be authorized to make immediate application for a program development grant from the Federal Government under the Economic Opportunity Act, was approved.

A report was received from the Salary Study Committee recommending that the starting salary of a full-time Commissioner of Health be $18,000 with five annual increments of $500 each, these increments to be granted on recommendation of the Board of Health at the time of presentation of the annual budget.

The Board of Health had recommended the salary rate of $19,000 with five annual increments of $750 each. The committee of Public Health in a report signed by Supervisor Rapp, chairman, recommended a starting salary of $17,500 with a second year increment of $1,000 and three succeeding annual increments of $500 each for a maximum salary of $20,000.

Sections of County Road 77, Gardiner - Kerhonkson, which have been abandoned because of relocation of portions of the road, were transferred by resolution of Supervisor Charles Relyea (R) Hurley, to the towns for maintenance or disposal to adjacent property owners.

Supervisor Joseph Martorana (R), Plattekill, moved that the board go on record as supporting Assembly bills 5492 and 5403 relative to clearing up junk yards.

A resolution by Supervisor George Majestic (D), Gardiner, seeking to have the legislature repeal the 2 per cent state sales tax, was defeated by a vote of 22 to 9.

Supervisor Roger Mabie (D), Esopus, said he was opposed to the state sales tax but it had been adopted by the legislature and his town would benefit greatly from state aid provided for from the sales tax.

A resolution offered by Supervisor Majestic placing the supervisors' "wholehearted" support with the Ulster County Bar Association in its support of the preservation of the jury system in civil actions, was unanimously adopted.

Preservation of Perrine's bridge over the Wallkill at Rifton as a historical site was advocated in a communication from Supervisor Majestic. He also called attention to the old stone houses of the area which should be preserved.

Two Are Injured In Thruway Crash

A Poughkepsie man and his son were injured at about 9:30 a. m. today, when their car went off the State Thruway near mile post 77 south of New Paltz and hit a tree.

Joseph Gusmano, 41, of 37 South Clinton Street, Poughkepsie, suffered injuries of the right leg and ribs. His son, Jacques, 18, same address, sustained injuries of the left thigh and possible rib injuries.

Both were taken to Benedictine Hospital by Fatum's ambulance. They were released after treatment.

The car was traveling north when the vehicle left the Thruway and went into a swamp area where it hit a tree. Thruway troopers, who investigated, were not available for a report of the accident.

Ulster County MV Tax Receipts Up Over 1964

Ulster County was marked for $223,814.32 as its share in the distribution of motor vehicle tax receipts, according to an announcement today by State Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

He said that $23,908,008.17 was marked for distribution to the state and New York City for the counties comprising the city. The total is the share of state-collected motor vehicle fees for three months ending March 31, 1965, which is being returned to the counties in accordance with the state highway law.

The law provides that 25 per cent of the fees collected under the vehicle and traffic law, exclusive of application fees and service charge for special plates, from residents of counties be returned to local government.

The money is deposited by counties in the county road funds, from which expenditures for construction and maintenance of county road systems are made. The money paid to the City of New York is to be credited to the City's general fund for construction and maintenance of city streets, highways and parkways. Checks are being mailed to the county fiscal officers and to the Director of Finance of the City of New York.

For comparison purposes a summary is attached showing the counties' share of this distribution for the same quarter in 1964.

The current share for Ulster County is more than $16,000 over the share of $217,035.41 for the comparative period ending March 31, last year.

The quarterly shares for other counties showing the 1965 and 1964 amounts respectively:

Columbia, $117,288.02, $105,717.46; Delaware, $100,599.58, $91,862.04; Dutchess, $335,650.48, $293,991.72; Orange, $427,493.48, $333,231.02; Greene, $83,467.31, $66,059.79; Schoharie, $51,737.19, $42,036.58; Sullivan, $111,629.34, $102,054.57.

Fantastic . .

Will Tour Center

Details of Johnson's visit, and whether he will present the special medals or awards to the space twins are not known. The President told the two last Monday he had a "little something" for them.

Afterwards, Johnson is expected to tour the center, including Mission Control from where the Gemini 4 space flight was controlled and monitored.

Officials revealed Thursday that a third sighting of a mysterious object in space was made during a pass over China. McDivitt had reported seeing an object over Hawaii and another over eastern Asia.

A recheck of the 1,400 frames of film taken by McDivitt turned up five of a glob of light with a white tail and a triangular glow above it.

The second object has not been identified. Photographs taken of it were not recognizable, a NASA official said.

Mention of the third object came during the afternoon debriefing of the two Air Force majors.

36th His Best

"Today is my birthday," McDivitt told the crowd welcoming him home Thursday. "I've had a lot of birthdays, I'm not going to tell you how many — but I've never had one like today."

Actually McDivitt's 36th birthday celebration began Wednesday night with a cake-cutting ceremony aboard the aircraft carrier USS Wasp, the ship that recovered the Gemini 4 capsule from the Atlantic.

At the McDivitt home, a few miles south of the Manned Spacecraft Center, he was greeted by a delegation of neighborhood children who shyly presented him a crudely lettered "happy birthday" sign.

McDivitt ate birthday cake at lunch with his wife, Pat; and children, Michael, 8; Ann Lynn, 6, and Patrick, 4, in the privacy of his home. The angel food cake baked by a sister-in-law, Mrs. John Sanders of Beria, Ohio, bore the lettering, "Happy Birthday, by Gemini."

White; his wife, Pat; and children, Eddie, 11, and Bonnie Lynn, 9, paddled about happily in a neighbor's swimming pool. White showed no signs of strain from his 20-minute walk in space June 3.

The space twins started their day at Mayport, Fla., saying farewells to the crew of the Wasp.

Saluted By Florida

They also received the first of many expected awards, a copy of the Florida state seal from Gov. Hayden Burns, as they stepped on firm ground for the first time since the blastoff at Cape Kennedy June 3.

Flags flapped in a breeze and the Navy band played "Happy Birthday to You." After the brief ceremony, the two smiling space heroes boarded a four-engine jet for the 2-hour and 15-minute flight to Ellington AFB.

As the plane rolled to a stop, the astronauts emerged and were engulfed with arms, legs and kisses. McDivitt circled his arms around his three tykes and lifted them to this chest several times.

Bonnie Lynn White leaped into her daddy's arms, planting a big kiss on his cheek. Then it was the wives' turns. They stood with their arms around their husbands' waists, beaming with pride. Occasionally they kissed.

Then it was the turn of the parents, retired Air Force Maj. Gen. Edward H. White and Mrs. White, and Mr. and Mrs. James McDivitt of Jackson, Mich.

Each family went home for a lot of family living. Neighbors cheered as the spacemen came home after being away since May 23. During that time they orbited the earth 62 times and traveled 1,609,684 miles.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market snapped back today from four steep daily losses. Trading was fairly active early this afternoon.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.36 at 880.85.

The market showed signs of firmness from the opening and the upward trend was established within the first half-hour. The list reached a peak in late morning then traders skimmed some of the profits.

To analysts it looked like just another technical move, with some of the price gains attributed to preweekend short covering. This is a kind of profit taking by short sellers, those who have sold borrowed stock with the intention of replacing it with stock bought at a lower price.

The trend was generally higher among steels, motors, rails, aerospace issues, electrical equipments, drugs and building materials. Chemicals and airlines were mixed.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.5 at 320.7 with industrials up 2.7, rails up .6 and utilities up .5.

Korvette sank nearly 3 points following news that its president had resigned.

Major U. S. Role

Santo War Turns Into Conflict Over Economics

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican civil war is turning into an economic conflict with the United States playing a major role.

The battlefield is still Santo Domingo. The capital is becoming even more divided as a result of the economic struggle between the junta and rebel factions.

With U.S. aid, the economy is being reorganized in hopes it can operate without Santo Domingo's downtown business district, the rebel stronghold.

Some U.S. officials believe that if the rebels can be bypassed economically, they might be pressured into a political settlement. Negotiations to form a compromise government are stalemated.

The insurgents have two powerful weapons in the economic arena, however. Their territory includes the principal banks and the port where most of the nation's imports are normally unloaded.

All the nation's factories are located in territory controlled by the junta, and more than 90 per cent are operating again. But many owners have their money in downtown banks which are shut. Their raw materials are sitting in warehouses overseas because port facilities to unload them here are not available.

Rehabilitation

approximately $100,000 a year for from five to 10 years, is known as a Hospital Improvement Grant and was assigned to Middletown State Hospital on June 1, 1964, and will be renewed yearly.

The new federal program marks an important beginning as it is the first time that the federal government has granted funds to state hospitals for actual patient treatment programs. It arose from the efforts of President John F. Kennedy in 1963 and was passed by the 88th Congress and signed by President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1964.

Middletown State Hospital was the first hospital in New York State to obtain a Hospital Improvement Grant.

Will Seek Help

Middleteown's out-patient care has become the most important aspect of the hospital's two-part Hospital Improvement Plan, Dr. Pleasure said. He said that with the new Kingston facility, help would be sought from not only local organizations but the public as well.

He said, "Many of our patients, who are adjusting very well in the hospital and working satisfactorily, need transitional programs to assist them in readjusting in the comunity and in real employment situations. Halfway House has this function, and we hope to obtain the cooperation of not only the Ulster County Comunity Mental Health Association and the Community Mental Health Board and Clinic, but also of the citizens of Kingston and Ulster County.

Gateway Assists

He said that Gateway Industries Inc, under Milton Goldstein, executive director, and the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation of the New York State Educational Department "have for some years been working closely with patients who have been released, and they have offered to increase their assistance."

Dr. Pleasure said that the Halfway House staff on Clinton Avenue will consist of five full time personel: a colony supervisor; an asistant colony supervisors, and three assistant housemothers; and two half time workers, a psychiatric social worker and a recreational instructor, all of whom will be residents of the Kingston area.

20 to Reside At Home

"In addition," Dr. Pleasure said, "Dr. Luigi Pollgrini, our experienced psychiatrist, and Miss Marie McCarthy, our mental hygiene employment specialist, will visit regularly one day a week. We expect to have approximately 20 patients residing in the Halfway House. They will undergo a period of personal adjustment and work readiness training at Gateway Industries, and some will expect to find employment in the community while experiencing normal social living.

"We hope that a high proportion will eventually return to their own communities as fully rehabilitated and productive members," the hospital director said. He said that as of today, furnishings were being delivered and minor repairs are being made. He said he will announce the exact opening date within two weeks.

Downtown Thefts

Theft of batteries from a downtown junkyard, of rolls from a bakery and of money from a tailor shop were under police probe today. The batteries were reported taken from the cellar of Millen's junkyard, 290 East Strand. Several boxes of rolls were reported taken from the New York Bakery, East Union Street. Philip Lutzin, tailor of 20 Broadway, reported some $10 taken from his cash drawer. It was reported missing after he had left the store for a few minutes.

Widow Is Advised On Insurance Funds

Q) "I am a widow of 59. My husband passed away last month. I have a pension of $160 a month, $25,000 of insurance money and $10,000 in savings. I also own 50 Standard of California and 25 Texas Gas Transmission. Would you advise taking part of the insurance money and investing in stocks for the future?" R. L.

A) Please first let me offer you my sincere sympathy on the loss of your husband. Your present stock holdings are sound and should be retained. Although there are as yet no signals of an important decline, we are certainly in the advanced stage of a long bull market with prices of good stocks relatively high and yields low.

I advise you at present to put no more than $10,000 of your insurance money into stocks, and suggest equal dollar amounts of General Motors, yielding 4.5 per cent; Allied Chemical, on a 5.5 per cent basis, and Consolidatel Edison, giving about a four per cent return.

Q) "I carry common stocks with a value of $10,000 which don't show me enough income for my needs. I know there are various corporation bonds which give a higher return and I would like to buy some of these. Can you suggest any and tell me where to buy them?" S. S.

(A) There are certainly a great many corporate bond issues outstanding which yield more good stocks. If you buy some of these, I would like to be sure that you understand that —being fixed as to income—to offer you no inflation protection, and that they can, and do, fluctuate in price on changes in money rates.

I suggest Pacific Gas and Electric 1st 4½s of 1996 (non-redeemable before 1969) and Caterpillar Tractor 4⅝s of 1986 (non-redeemable before 1971). I believe your banker will recommend a good bond dealer who will gladly execute your orders.

Hearing Slated

ing, 55 stated they were against the proposal as submitted and 35 stated they were in favor of it in an unofficial poll of those present.

Charles Montafia, president of Port Ewen Business Mens' Association, urged the establishment of a State Park on the site now occupied by the Wiltwyck School at Esopus, when the school moves to its new quarters at Yorktown Heights. The site embraces an area of approximately 285 acres. The Wiltwyck School is expected to move from its Esopus quarters in the early fall.

The Town Board agreed to look into the matter further and to contact the proper state authorities and departments on the suggestion.

The board agreed to initiate the necessary steps to consolidate the East Port Ewen Street Lighting District with the Port Ewen Street Lighting District. It was stated that geographically the two districts are one and that at present there is no valid reason for maintaining the two street lighting districts as separate entities. In 1965 there was only a $.07 per $1,000 difference in the tax rates for the two districts.

A resolution was passed by the Board going on record as being in favor of the state's "Pure Waters Program." Part of the program is a billion dollar bond issue to be voted on by the voters in November that would permit the financing of 60 per cent of the cost of municipal sewerage installations.

Study in Progress

A comprehensive sewerage study for the Town of Esopus is now in the process of being carried out with state funds. Progress Report No. 2 of the study from Brinnier and Larios, professional engineers of Kingston who are conducting the study, was read at the meeting.

The Board gave its permission to the Town Planning Board to interview professional planning organizations for the purpose of selecting a professional planner to assist in the preparation of a master plan for the township.

A discussion was held on the possible control of mosquitos by aerial spraying. Mosquitoes are allegedly more numerous than usual this year in certain parts of the township. No action was taken due to a lack of funds in this year's budget for the purpose and the inability to provide the service on a town-wide basis.

The State Board of Equalization and Assessment notified the Town that the final equalization rate for Esopus would be 18, a drop of one from the current rate.

The Town Board of Assessors announced the completion of the assessment roll for 1965 and that Grievance Day would be held at The Town Hall, Tuesday, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m.

To Attend Parley

Paul Mercier, town superintendent of highways, was given permission to attend the School for Highway Superintendents to be conducted by the State Association of Towns at Cornell University, June 28-30.

Vernon L. Frost, chairman of the Ross Park Commission, announced that the summer program of organized recreation at the park would commence Monday, June 28. It was also announced that the director of the program this year would be Gabriel Porto, 169 Stout Avenue, Port Ewen, a teacher of the Kingston Consolidated School District. The assistant director will be Miss Barbara Maynard, Port Ewen.

The approval of the State Youth Commission for this year's program was also received at the meeting. The approval carries with it a grant of $1,000 to help defray the program's cost.

Roland H. Myers, chairman of Port Ewen Board of Water Commissioners, announced that the average daily water usage for May had been 258,548 gallons. It was also announced that Camp SAAC, River Road, was conecting to the system to meet its water requirements this summer.

DeVall H. Dunbar, building inspector, reported the issuance of eight building permits during May with a total valuation of the work undertaken of $27,060.

To Replace Lights

The replacement of obsolete street lighting fixtures at the corners of Bayard and Main Streets, Port Ewen and First Avenue and North Broadway, Sleightsburgh was authorized.

The meeting was adjourned in the memory of Mrs. Allan Dargie, wife of Justice of the Peace Allan Dargie, who died last week.

Fidel Weaker . . .

ly in Spanish, pausing after each paragraph for translation into English by her interpreter, Yolanda Montero.

Miss Castro broke with her brother and fled Cuba a year ago. The subcommittee called her today to testify on what they view as a Communist menace throughout this hemisphere.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., chairman of the full committee, headed the three-man panel. The other members are Reps. Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., and John Buchanan, R-Ala.

Orderly Start

The House committee has run, on occasion, into demonstrations in past hearings. This one—in the Caucus Room of the House Cannon Office Building—got off to an orderly start.

"I want to make a humanitarian appeal to save my people and the other endangered nations," Miss Castro said. "Communist imperialism and its instrument in the Americas, Fidel Casro, are planning to take over this entire hemisphere. This is no secret.

"Firm and decisive action on the part of the Organization of American States is necessary also on the part of the leaders—as President Johnson has done—not only of the leaders but on the people — as the Dominicans have done, as the Cubans will do —as shall all of us men and women who love freedom, peace and social improvement.

Swift Action Vital

"All of us, united, must act with swiftness. The OAS must not hesitate. While they hold discussions, the Communist minorities take over still more popular movements. They must discuss and approve in advance, whatever action must be taken to support the people and prevent the Communist minorities from thwarting their hopes and enslaving them."

Miss Castro pointed to the war in Viet Nam to support her argument that her brother, Russia and Communist China are trying to dominate all the peoples and nations of the world.

One theme of her statement was that Communists begin as a minority but whenever given the chance dominate and destroy the majority.

"Those of us in Cuba who believed sincerely in freedom, peace, work, the right to happiness and social progress were used by the Communist minority," she said.

Julia M. Chick Chooses Chantilly Lace Gown for Wedding at St. Colman's Church

Wearing a gown of Chantilly lace with a floor length skirt of silk organza in chapel length, Julia M. Chick of East Kingston exchanged marriage vows with Roger J. Murphy of West Hurley in St. Colman's Church, East Kingston.

The double ring ceremony took place at 1 p. m. on June 6, with the Rev. Vincent Brennan, pastor, officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Chick Jr., of East Kingston. She was given in marriage by her father. The bride's silk illusion veil was shirred to a stylized headpiece of lace edged with tiny seed pearls. She carried white daisies with mums.

The bride's sister Beverly Chick, was maid of honor in a floor length gown of shell pink chiffon in sheath style. She wore a stylized headpiece with a matching tulle veil and carried pink daisies and mums.

Carol William of 390 Albany Avenue, Jeanne Ennis, 86 Roosevelt Avenue, June Lang, 36 Hoffman Street, were the bridesmaids. Their gown of jade green were styled identically to that worn by the honor attendant. A flower girl, Jodi Markle, who is the bride's niece, wore shell pink, while a junior bridesmaid, Linda Sweeney, wore jade green. The attendants carried blue daisies and pink mums. Miss Markle and Miss Sweeney, who is the bridegroom's nieces, carried pink daisies and mums.

Bruce Bernard of West Park, the bridegroom's cousin, was best man. Ushers were William Murphy of Park Street, Ronald Raible, Forest Hill Drive and Lewis Bonstell, 120 Prospect Street, all of Kingston.

A reception for 175 guests was given at The Capri 400 in Port Ewen.

The bride was graduated from Kingston High School and is employed as a secretary by State University College. Her husband, an alumnus of Onteora Central School, is serving with the U. S. Air Force and is stationed in Formosa.

After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will reside in Formosa.

CAR COURTESY

Q: The other night, friends of ours called and said that their car was in the garage for repairs and asked if we would pick them up and take them to a party to which we were all invited. We were only too happy to do so. When it was time to leave ,they came over to us and said that they were riding home with another couple. My husband and I were very much put out over this and think they were very rude. May I please have your opinion on this.

A: Unless they wished to leave the party before you and asked if you minded their riding home with this other couple who were also leaving early, I agree with you that they were very rude.

May She Keep Engagement Ring?

Q: I was engaged two months ago and received a very beautiful ring from my finance. Two weeks ago, he was killed in an automobile accident. I would like to know if I should return the ring to his parents or may I properly keep it?

A: You may properly keep it. If, however, it happens to be an old heirloom and you know that his parents would like to have it remain in the family, it would be considerate to offer to return it.

The Suffix Esquire

Q: Is it ever proper for a man to use the suffix Esquire when writing his own name? I know a man who does this and I have tried to tell him that it is in very bad taste, but he will not listen to me. Perhaps a word from you will convince him.

A: It is not only in bad taste but incorrect as well and is the same as singing himself, "John Smith, gentlemen."

MRS. CHARLES W. HENNINGER

Barley-Henninger Nuptials Are Announced

It was a double ring wedding ceremony in the First Baptist Church Sunday, June 6, at 2 p. m. for Freda Barley of Kingston and Charles Walter Henninger of Kingston.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pierce Barley of 747 Lincoln Park Place. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Henninger of 36 Lawrenceville Street, and the late Ewald Henninger.

The Rev. James A. Braker officiated. Mrs. Arthur T. Pedersen was the organist and Miss Cheryl Thomas sang several traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of silk and Chantilly lace styled with belled skirt which was chapel length. Her triple tiered veil of imported silk mist was held by a stylized headpiece of rhinestones and pearls. She carried white carnations.

The bride's sister Carol, served as maid of honor in a white silk chiffon gown fashioned along empire lines. A flowered headpiece held a chapel length veil and she carried yellow carnations.

Miss Karen Gromoll of 87 Lucas Avenue, Miss Fran Markle of 96 Broadview, Kingston, were the bridesmaids in gowns of aqua blue. They carried pink carnations.

Robert Henninger of Kingston was best man for his brother. Ushers were Albert Kiersted Jr., 30 Country Drive, Mt. Marion; Nicholas Radenberg, Fishkill, brother-in-laws of the bridegroom.

A reception was given in Moose Hall, 82 Prince Street for 100 guests. Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Henninger left for Canada.

Mrs. Henninger is a graduate of Kingston High School and is employed by Ferroxcube Corp., Mt. Marion. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High School, has served four years with the U. S. Navy and is employed also by Ferroxcube.

Mr. and Mrs. Henninger will reside in Kingston.

Schaffners Observe 55th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. William G. Schaffner celebrated their 55th wedding anniversary at a dinner party held in Ang-El's Restaurant. The couple were married June 7, 1910 at Our Lady of Victory Church, Bronx.

Mrs. Schaffner is the former Gertrude Kearney. She and her husband were both born in New York City where Mr. Schaffner was employed for 18 years at the Loesch Cardboard and Index Paper Company. He moved to Ulster County in 1920 and was associated with Salzman's Bakery for 18 years, retiring in 1950.

The couple now reside on Lohmaier Lane. For many years Mr. Schaffner was an active member of the Town of Ulster Democratic Club. The couple have six children, nine grandchildren, and three great grandchildren.

Wedding Information

Through the years, The Freeman has extended the courtesy of publishing wedding stories and will continue to do so. Since many questions arise about procedure during the year, the following information may prove helpful.

In order to print an accurate story, a standard wedding form is made available These will be mailed upon request.

For best coverage, the form and accompanying picture should reach the Society Editor's desk at least a day BEFORE THE WEDDING

PICTURES for publication must be submitted in advance or WITHIN TEN DAYS after the wedding. Pictures must be of the bride alone. Snapshots are not acceptable.

Those photos which do not conform to above instructions will be honored only if taken prior to June 7, 1965.

In keeping with good taste, only highlights of gown and floral descriptions should be submitted.

Rosary Society Elects Officers

Mrs. Rita Connor of Edgewood Dr. was elected president of St. Mary of the Snow Rosary Society last week at the final session of the group until the fall. Also elected were Mrs. Marion Schnell, vice president; Mrs. Mary Pietkiewicz, secretary; Mrs. Dorothy Cassel, treasurer.

In the absence of the newly elected president, Mrs. Schnell accepted the gavel from the Rev. Charles J. Kaufmann, Society moderator. The gavel was a gift of Father Kaufmann to the Rosarians.

Out going president, Mrs. Peggy Wilsey, was presented with her past president's pin by Mrs. Rita Rooney, this year's vice president. She also presented Mrs. Wilsey with a gift from her officers.

A surprise parody on "Peg O' My Heart" and a skit, "A Day in the Life of the President of the Rosary Society" followed, portrayed by Mrs. Wilsey's daughter Mary Kay and the Misses, Peggy Nau, Karen Rightmeyer, Nancy Harkins and Terry Fitzpatrick.

During the business meeting, the Rosarians voted to give a set of white vestments trimmed with blue velvet to the church.

The nursery chairman, Mrs. Rose Millin, requested that the age of children brought to the nursery on Sundays during the 10 o'clock Mass be limited to those four years and under. She specifically stated that only children be left whose parents are attending Mass. The purpose of the nursery was re-stated as being a convenience for parishioners with small children to enable both the mother and father to attend Mass together with the older children thus encouraging family Communion.

Both the nursery and the monthly mission pledges will continue during the summer months.

The Rosarians will serve breakfast to the members of the Holy Name Society Sunday following the 8 o'clock Mass in the school cafeteria. Mrs. Marion Garzione chairman, would appreciate more volunteer help.

Mrs. Wilsey explained that the eighth grade girls were each given a white carnation for the May procession as a token of thanks from the Rosary Society for their help in numerous projects during the year.

Reflecting on her closing year as president, Mrs. Wilsey thanked all the members for the successful ventures undertaken and concluded that their success was due to the fact that in performing these projects, "we were honoring Christ through His Blessed Mother." Mrs. Wilsey had also led in the recitation of the Rosary in opening the meeting.

A covered dish supper preceeded the meeting.

Reformed Church Notes Activities

Children's Day will be observed at the 11 o'clock Sunday service at Saugerties Reformed Church. The sermon by the minister, the Rev. Orville Jay Hine, will be in keeping with the observance of children's Day and is entitled, "Looking to Jesus."

At the service, bibles will be awarded to the students of the Sunday church school who are completing the third grade this year. The presentations will be made by George Turner, superintendent, and Mrs. LeRoy Snyder, teacher of the third grade.

The following boys and girls will receive Bibles: Debra Buchan, Mary Beth Ferraro, William Ford, Gail Hall, Kim Marabell, John Mignano, Scott Olson, Patricia Pulver, Regan Russell, Helen Sherman, Barbara Smith, Patricia Taylor, and Elizabeth Ziegler.

Sunday Church School Choir will sing the selection entitled, "Praise to the Lord." Adult choir will also sing at the service.

The Classis of Ulster and Poughkeepsie will meet Tuesday 7 p. m. at New Hackensack Reformed Church. This is to be the first meeting of the two Classis as they contemplate a union of the two groups.

The choir will rehearse in the parish hall at 7:15 p. m. Thursday.

At 8 p. m. Thursday, the various choirs of the area churches will meet at the Reformed Church in order to rehearse for the Baccalaurate service which will be held Sunday, June 20. The music at this service will be lead by the combined choirs of the various churches of the Saugerties area.

Local Rebekahs Attend Parley At Ithaca Home

Last week 41 Rebekahs and Odd Fellows attended the Pilgrimage to the IOOF Ithaca Home. They traveled by bus, where more than 1000 Rebekahs and Odd Fellows and friends assembled.

Visitors were invited to go through the building and see the sitting rooms, auditorium, dining room and living quarters. Residents seemed pleased with all the activities that took place.

Theta Rho Girls Initiate Member

Susan Kersh of West Camp this week was initiated into the Tonda Theta Rho Girls Club 26 of West Saugerties.

Mildred Fyllingin, president, officiated, with the assistance of her degree staff.

Also at this time delegates were elected to attend the Theta Rho Rally at Utica October 1 and 2.

Mildred Fyllingin and Cindy Tyler are the delegates and the proxies will be Caryl Fyllingin and Gail Adams.

The girls have set a date, August 6, for their social and card party.

Public Library Notes

The trustees of Columbia University annually award the Pulitzer Prizes in journalism, letters, music and drama. These awards carry a cash award of $500. The distinguished fiction award is given for a book preferably dealing with American life, written by an American author during the previous year.

The award for 1964 fiction went to Shirley Ann Grau. Born in New Orleans and educated at Tulane University, Miss Grau wrote for Holiday Magazine, New Yorker and Madamoiselle. Nine of her short stories were collected and published in 1955 as "The Black Prince." Her award winning book "The Keepers of the House" deals with life in the deep South. Both of these books are availabel at the Public Library.

Quell Mattress Fire

All units of Saugerties Fire Department responded Wednesday night to the old stone house dwelling of Mrs. Elmer Newkirk on Teetesel Street, off Ulster Avenue.

Volunteer firemen removed a smouldering mattress from an upstairs bedroom.

A smoke ejector borrowed from Malden-West Camp Fire Company was used on the upstairs rooms.

One of the volunteer firemen lost a number of keys on a ring at the fire. Anyone finding them may return them to the Police Department.

Dear Abby . . . He's Hopeful!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a man who constantly smokes cigars?

CURIOUS

DEA RCURIOUS: He is courageous, self-confident, masculine, sophisticated and uninhibited. Or would like to be.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: My sister, who is planning to be married in September, has a problem I think maybe you can help her with. (I'll call her Sharon.) Well, Sharon borrowed her girl friend's wedding gown because she didn't want to go to the expense of buying one. About a week ago Sharon's fiance's aunt, who lives in Texas, sent her a beautiful brand new bridal outfit. This woman has never met Sharon, but because Sharon's fiance is her favorite nephew she wanted to do something real nice for his bride. The outfit looks very expensive and it seems a shame for her to spend all that money on a bridal outfit when Sharon already has one. And besides, Sharon would much rather have a TV set. Should she keep it? She hates to hurt her girl friend's feelings by not wearing the gown after accepting it. But she doesn't want to hurt her fiance's aunt's feelings, either. What should she do?

HER SISTER

DEAR SISTER: Although the aunt meant well, she should not have sent a bridal outfit as a gift without knowing whether or not it was needed — or wanted. Sharon should return it with a letter of thanks, explaining that she has her bridal ensemble. But no mention should be made about what she would prefer instead, unless she is asked.

DEAR ABBY: I am 21, not bad looking, have a good personality but I am a little shy until I get to know a person. I don't have a steady boy friend. I work in a large office building, and I keep running into a very nice-looking young man who must be about 24 or 25 years old. I know he's noticed me, but he has never made any effort to get acquainted with me.

One of the girls who works where I work was with me when he passed by and she said she didn't know his name, but she knew in which office he worked and she was sure he wasn't married. I would like to meet him. I have an idea that he would also like to meet me, but he is also shy. How do I break the ice? A nice girl can't just start talking to a strange man, can she?

SHY BUT INTERESTED

DEAR SHY: No, a "nice" girl cannot just start talking to a strange man—but if you want to "break the ice"—crack a smile, and leave the rest to Providence.

• • • •

DEAR ABBY: Your advice to "Telephone Sweetheart," that 17-year-old girl who became fascinated with the stranger who dialed her number by mistake, was good. I hope she takes it. Four years ago the same thing happened to me, only I wasn't a 17-year-old kid. I was old enough to know better. I should have hung up the moment I heard that deep resonant voice. It changed my life.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, June 11, the 162nd day of 1965. There are 203 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1776, Congress appointed a committee to draft a Declaration of Independence. The committee included Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin and John Adams.

On this date

In 1859, the Comstock Lode was discovered in Nevada.

In 1936, a new Soviet constitution was submitted to the people of the Soviet Union.

In 1942, an announcement was made of a lend-lease agreement between Russia and the United States.

In 1945, the Senate voted to continue the Office of Price Administration for another year.

Ten years ago — The Atomic Energy Commission reported that the hydrogen bomb could be constructed in almost unlimited size from the cheapest atomic explosives.

Five years ago — White House news secretary James Hagerty went to Tokyo to arrange the details of a visit by President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

One year ago — The State Department announced that reconnaissance flights over Laos would continue "as necessary," with the consent of Premier Souvanna Phouma.

Jewish Center To Have Summer Aquatic Classes

Two new aquatic training programs will be introduced by the Kingston Jewish Community Center this summer at the Center's Family Recreation Center in Hurley.

Beginners Swimming Classes for adults will be conducted in the large outdoor pool at the site on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 5:30 p. m. and on Sunday mornings beginning at 11 a. m. Adult and Teen-age lifesaving classes will be in session at the pool on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons from 5:30 p m

Chief instructor and supervisor for the classes will be the Center's Executive Director, Robert A. Kurland. He holds certification as an American Red Cross Watersafety Instructor, and is a graduate of two years at the American National Red Cross Aquatic School. Assisting Kurland will be Richard Whiston, Andrew Kleeger and Elizabeth Aherns, all American Red Cross Senior Lifesavers.

All classes will begin the week of June 28 and advance registration is necessary. This is an opportunity for adults to receive specialized instruction in these aquatic skills and to obtain training that will be valuable to them in the future for recreation purposes and also to increase the safety of the population during the summer months.

HAVE FLAG DAY PROGRAM—Edward Conger, leader of St. Mary's Boy Scout Troop 18, speaks to Scouts concerning a program for 9 a. m. Monday, Flag Day, at St. Mary's School yard, Broadway and McEntee Street. It is in conjunction with a project sponsored by Troop 18 asking all good Americans to fly Old Glory on June 14. The Scouts, from left, are Russell Kell, Michael Dubill and Rick Stanyard; rear, Michael Bruzzese and Patrick Dubill.

Divorce Study Committee to Report on Dec. 15th

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Dec. 15 is the target date for a special legislative study committee to submit its recommendations for changes in New York State's 177-year-old divorce law.

Adultery is now the only ground for divorce in this state.

The committee Thursday was granted final approval for the study which could spearhead a liberalization of the law.

There have been repeated demands over the years for a broadening of the law, but previous Legislatures declined to touch the issue.

Several lawmakers and the Roman Catholic Church have voiced opposition to any change in the statute.

When the Senate gave final legislative approval for the committee, however, few opposing voices were heard.

Senate Majority Leader Joseph Zaretzki and Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia allocated $50,000 to finance the study.

Sen. Jerome L. Wilson, D-Manhattan, who in the past has advocated the study, is said to be in line for the commitee chairmanship.

Wilson has supported a change because, he says, the present law promotes fraud and collusion in establishing the evidence of adultery.

The only alternative to this, Wilson contends, is for couples to go to other states for a divorce. This, he says, is financially impossible for many persons.

The giant caravan making up the Old Timers Baseball Association Kingston Day at Shea Stadium starts moving out of the Dietz Stadium parking lot Sunday at 8:30 a. m.

More than 800 fans, part of the 1,500 Kingston area delegation, have been assigned to buses, Old Timers president John J. McCardle announced today.

The Old Timers group will be swelled by a large contingent from IBM Kingston and other privately chartered busses.

The loading of buses starts at 8:15 a. m. and it is hoped to get the first one moving by 8:30 a. m.

"We hope to have the whole group out of the parking lot no later than 9:30 a. m." said McCardle. "This will give us ample time to reach Shea Stadium well in advance of the 1:05 p. m. starting time of the Mets-Dodgers doubleheader."

To Guard Cars

Fans making the trip may park their cars at Dietz where they will be under police protection throughout the day and until the caravan returns from Shea Stadium. Old Timers officials hope to have the last bus leave Shea not more than a half hour after the end of the second game.

Ceremonies Planned

The long-awaited Kingston Day will be highlighted by ceremonies unprecedented at a major league baseball park.

Four members of the Mets organization will receive scrolls, honorary life membership and be inducted into the Old Timers Association baseball Hall of Fame.

Mayor John J. Schwenk will present one of the scrolls to Manager Casey Stengel. Bernard A. Culloton will induct John J. Murphy, vice president and general manager of the Mets. The scrolls were designed at IBM Kingston.

Two of the Mets' Hall of Fame candidates — Yogi Berra and Warren Spahn—will be inducted by president McCardle and Charles J. Tiano, respectively.

Th between game ceremony will also feature an 8-minute exercise by the famed criterion Drum Corps of Kingston Post American Legion and two solos by Patrolman Dick Scherer of Kingston. He will be accompanied at home plate by accordianist Frank Speis.

Met officials said they would make every effort to televise the colorful ceremonies. Ordinarily, between game ceremonies are not telecast.

Started in October

The Kingston Day at Shea Stadium is an outgrowth of the long and excellent rapport between the Old Timers and the major league organization. It was first proposed last October at the Old Timers Hall of Fame dinner.

McCardle expressed elation at the tremendous cooperation he has received from the Mets public relations department, Specifically John Geis.

"The City of Kingston has received a barrel of publicity from this promotion," he said. "The Mets have used it the past several days on their broadcasts and flashed the news on their giant scoreboard at every night game. All of the metropolitan area newspapers have carried advance items on Kingston Day."

Original Quota—500

The Old Timers president revealed that Kingston Day started out as a 500-ticket deal but quickly mushroomed into almost double that size.

"We had to shut the ticket sale off at 807," McCardle noted. "We could easily have sold 1,000 tickets, but they just weren't available." A capacity crowd of 55,000 will look on Sunday and there isn't a ticket to be had.

McCardle left a lingering ray of hope—if only a small one—for fans who were shut out.

"There may be a few last minute cancellations," he said, "but we don't expect too many. Any hardy soul can take a chance."

One last warning. Don't forget to bring your game ticket with you. No tickee, no ball and no foolin'.

Perry, Schabot Are Selected To 1st Team

By ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Mickey Scott, a recent draftee of the New York Yankees, was a unanimous choice as the DUSO league's "Player of the Year" at a meeting of the circuit's Sportwriters and Broadcasters Assn. last night at Monticello Raceway.

Joining the fireballing lefty from the champion Newburgh nine on the first team are catcher Pat Doogan, first baseman Pete Petrillo and outfielder Les Lawlor.

Kingston High, which finished in a three-way tie with the Goldbacks and with Poughkeepsie High before bowing in a playoff, is represented by shortstop Lou Perry and outfielder Joe Schabot.

Fred Johnson of Poughkeepsie was awarded the second pitching spot and the other PHS player on the first team is second baseman Richie Lawrence.

Port Jervis placed third baseman John Bell and outfielder Charles (Chuck) Bierlein on the first team. Middletown, which failed to win a league game, is not represented on the squad.

Making it a clean sweep, Newburgh had George Balcanoff earn laurels as "Coach of the Year." He beat Sam J. Kalloch, the veteran Poughkeepsie mentor in the balloting.

Hurled No-Hitter

To the surprise of practically nobody, Scott didn't have opposition as the league's top player. He was almost the entire pitching staff for Newburgh and his only defeat was by a 2-1 margin to Poughkeepsie. Marvelous Mickey hurled a no-hitter and was the winning pitcher in the two playoff games captured by the Goldbacks.

Scott, a 6-1, 155 pound senior, was drafted on the fourth round by the Yankees. He is expected to sign after his high school graduation and will probably be assigned to their Class A Binghamton team.

Perry and Schabot, Kingston's two representatives on the first team, were the sparkplugs of the KHS offense.

Perry started the season at third base and was shifted to shortstop by coach Mike Rienzo. He compiled a .414 league batting average on 12 hits in 29 trips to the dish. Included was a double and a home run.

Schabot batted a nifty .323 in the circuit. Of his 10 hits in 31 attempts, five were for extra bases. They included a double two triples and a pair of home runs.

Kingston players making honorable mention are pitchers Brian Bach and Gene Rios; first baseman Jack Schatzel and outfielder John Eccleston.

In other action at the meeting, the writers paid special recognition to the late Al Gruner, last year's "Coach of the Year," and the varsity baseball head Kingston High for several Gruner, who died before ball season began, was cited his untiring work, both as a coach and as a man.

Crothers Tops Snell in 880

TORONTO (AP)—Bill Crothers tried for three years and finally beat Peter Snell, New Zealand's double Olympic champion, in the 880-yard run, the highlight of Toronto's international track meet Thursday night.

A crowd of 19,633 saw the 24-year-old Markham, Ont., pharmacist beat Snell by about two yards in the meet record time of 1:48.4. It was the Canadian's first victory over the New Zealander in five races. They clashed for the first time at the 1962 British Empire Games in Perth, Australia.

It also was the first defeat for Snell in the half-mile since 1961 when he lost to George Kerr of Jamaica.

Crothers stayed close on Snell's heels until the start of the final turn. Then he made his bid to move ahead and caught Snell after a hair-raising stretch finish line.

Snell, timed in 1:48.6, wasn't unduly upset.

"You can't go on finishing first time after time," he said. "If I had to be beaten, I'm glad it was Crothers."

McDowell Hurls Tribe Past Minnesota, 4-1

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The best advice Sam McDowell ever received was not to take any.

The 22-year-old Cleveland lefthander, a victim of the verbal handout, continued his outstanding pitching Thursday night by striking out nine in a 4-1 victory over first-place Minnesota and becoming the first American Leaguer to reach the 100-strikeout level this season.

McDowell now has won three straight, lifting his record to 6-3 while proving that the amazing flip-flop he made after the middle of the 1964 season was only the first step toward justifying the $100,000 bonus the Indians paid out five years ago.

For it was only last season that McDowell, who took advice so readily he learned his pickoff move in a telephone conversation, began to listen to General Manager Gabe Paul and walk away from all the free advice he was getting.

"I had a brainstorm," admits McDowell, "I woke up."

No More Experimenting

Instead of experimenting, McDowell began to rely only on a fast ball and curve, enough equipment for a guy with his overpowering speed.

So, he closed his ears, opened up with the fast ball and curve after three previous shots at the majors had proved fruitless and put together an 11-6 record over the final half of the season.

And now he suddenly has blossomed into the league's strikeout artist, challenging Sandy Koufax for the major league lead. McDowell has struck out 108 in 80 2-3 innings to 119 in 101 1-3 innings for the Los Angeles Dodgers' southpaw.

While McDowell was showing his problems are solved, Baltimore's Wally Bunker took his second straight swing at the sophomore jinx, allowing only an unearned run while scattering eight hits in a 5-1 victory over Washington.

In the only other AL game scheduled, the Chicago White Sox moved to within 1½ games of the front-running wins by downing Boston 4-2.

McDowell struck out Twins' slugger Harmon Killebrew three times and allowed Minnesota's only run in the second inning on a walk and singles by Jerry Kindall and pitcher Dave Boswell. He allowed only six hits until the ninth when the Twins threatened and Gary Bell finished up.

Camilo Carreon hit a two-run homer in Cleveland's three-run second inning uprising against Boswell and Leon Wagner wrapped up the scoring with a solo homer in the third.

Bunker, who had a 19-5 record last season but has been plagued by arm trouble, came through with his second straight strong performance, losing his bid for a shutout in the seventh inning when Dave Johnson's error contributed to an unearned Washington run.

Bunker, now 3-2, also collected a two-run single in the eighth inning after the Orioles had snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh when Johnson doubled and scored on a single by Russ Snyder.

The Red Sox led 2-1 and Dave Morehead was working on a three-hitter when the White Sox suddenly threatened in the seventh. Boston reliever Dick Radatz came on, hit Don Buford with a pitch to load the bases and then was tagged for a triple by Floyd Robinson.

Pirates Still Sizzle After 4-2 Decision

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Now, if the Pirates only had the Mets' number the way Juan Marichal does. . .

Pittsburgh is the hottest team in the major leagues with 18 victories in the last 20 games after a 4-2 victory over Houston Thursday night. Marichal, meanwhile, continued feeding New York his personal steady diet of blanks as San Francisco downed the Mets 3-0.

The Pirates' victory stretched their latest winning streak to six games while the Mets' loss was their sixth in a row. The last time New York won, Pittsburgh lost. In fact the Pirates' only two setbacks in the last three weeks have come at the hands of the cellar-dwelling New Yorkers.

Bob Veale won his fifth straight complete game against the Astros with home runs by Willie Stargell and Donn Clendenon the key blows for the Pirates.

Dodgers Bow, 4-0

League-leading Los Angeles was blanked by Philadelphia's Ray Herbert, who pitched his first National League shutout 4-0. In afternoon games, Milwaukee moved within 2½ games of the lead with a 6-4 victory over Chicago and Cincinnati edged St. Louis 8-7.

Veale had his string of scoreless innings snapped at 28 when Houston pushed a run across in the fifth, but the tall reft-hander went on to his seventh victory in nine decisions.

Marichal shut out the Mets for the third time this season and has allowed them just one run in the last 52 innings dating back to May 31, 1964. The victory ran his career mark to 12-0 against New York.

Jesus Alou and Jim Davenport provided Marichal (9-5) with all the runs he needed, hammering solo home runs against Met starter Gary Kroll.

Richie Allen and Dick Stuart supported Herbert with back-to-back homers in the sixth inning as the Phillie right-hander evened his record at 3-3.

Defensive Gem

Stuart, whose fielding has left something to be desired in the past, turned in the defensive play of the night to bail Herbert out of a spot in the eighth. After Ruben Amaro made two errors on one play, allowing Willie Crawford to reach second, Stuart barely reached Maury Wills' little pop up and then flipped to Amaro, doubling Crawford.

Frank Robinson ripped his 300th career homer and Tommy Harper had four hits for the Reds. Leo Cardenas, who had three safeties, tagged a bases loaded triple as Cincinnati built an early lead.

But St. Louis came back on two homers by Bill White before Pete Rose singled in Harper with the winning run in the sixth.

Milwaukee spotted Chicago a three-run lead, then roared from behind on homers by Rico Carty and Hank Aaron, to win its seventh in the last nine.

Aaron's ninth homer got the Braves started in the third and Carty slammed his second in the seventh. Larry Jackson, a 24-game winner last year, took the loss, his eighth against only three victories. Tony Cloninger, 8-4, was the winner.

Glasco A.C. Nips Michael's Barbers, 6-5

Joe Roberti's triple and a sacrifice fly in the last of the seventh enabled the Glasco A. C. to score a 6-5 triumph over Michael's Barber Shop and take over first place in the Saugerties Softball league race.

Rich Marelli's second inning home run gave Glasco a 1-0 lead. The winners tallied three times in the third on a triple by Ed Riozzi, Roberti's double and a single by Marelli.

Joe Benjamin pounded a two-run homer for Michael's in the fourth and a double by Mike Dodig, a sacrifice and an infield out closed the gap to 4-3 in the fifth.

After the winners had tallied another run in the sixth, the visitors knotted the count in the top of the seventh on a two-run shot by Mickey Iannone. Then came the winning marker in the last half of the frame.

75 to Compete in Hudson River Marathon

Annual Event Scheduled for Sunday, 9 A.M.

Four Kingston entries are among a field of 75 slated to compete in the annual Hudson River Marathon race Sunday.

They include Robert Mollet, Class E; John Sherlock, Class H; Gus Stopski, Sportsmen and Warren Spinneweber, Port Ewen, Class I.

Harvey (Chic) Miller of Lazy Bones Boat Basin, Eddyville, will be the official starter for the American Power Boat Assn.

The 131 mile course stretches from the dock of the sponsoring Castleton Boat Club, just outside Albany, to Edgewater, N. J., across the river from the New York City line.

Six races will be held, with the first contestants slated to begin at 9 a. m. Races will be held in six divisions and chairman Russ VanderWal said he will not be surprised to see Hank Bowman's record of 54.7 miles an hour broken.

The unlimited division is a new one this year. The six divisions include E (40-49.99 cubic inch displacement and 13 feet minimum length), F (50-59.99 and 14), H (70-79.99 and 15), I (80-89.99 and 15-6), JJ (twin engine and 15) and U (unlimited and 13).

Covallis and Keller are in the JJ division. Covallis lost out by only a minute in the 1963 race. Keller, one of the top speedsters in the country, captured the Orange Bowl marathon in 1963.

One defending champion is back. He is Bill Downard, one of several entries from Bacyrus, Ohio, winner of the Class E event last year. His main competition will come from John Opitz Jr., of Schenectady.

Bill Combs, another driver from Bucyrus, has vacated his crown in the F division and will be in the H class this year. Arthur Bean of Walton is favored in the F division.

The Class I division should be a wide open battle but Bob Meyer of Linden, N. J., is a slight favorite. His son, Bob Jr., also has a boat in the race.

Last year, all but eight of the 79 starters finished the marathon.

The finish of the race will be televised by the National Broadcasting Co. (NBC).

Recommend Sites For Ski Olympics

MAMAIA, Romania (AP) — The International Ski Federation decided to recommend Banff, Canada; Lahti, Finland, and Sapporo, Japan, to the International Olympic Committee as sites of the 1972 Winter Olympics.

Agerpress, the Romanian news agency, said the recommendations were made in this order by the annual FIS congress meeting in this Black Sea resort.

The three bidders lost out to Grenoble, France, for the 1968 games, awarded by the IOC congress at Innsbruck, Austria, during last year's winter Olympics.

Compass Point Opens Juvenile With DUSO Win

MONTICELLO — Compass Point initiated the second year of Monticello Raceway's juvenile education program in style last night by stepping off a brisk 2:07.4 mile in the featured DUSO Sportswriters and Broadcasters Association Pace.

The program, for two-year-olds, introduced last season by the mighty M and widely hailed by horsemen, got off to a solid start in the first race when Bobby Camper drove Far Rod to a 2:11.4 triumph over Yankee Shadow and Ravens Phantom.

But that performance was heavily overshadowed by Compass Point, a Duane Hanover colt reined by Raoul Dussault. Dussault, third choice in the betting, went wire to wire, upsetting heavy favorite Frisco Fagin which faded badly in the stretch to finish a disappointing fifth.

For the half mile, it was Compass Point and Frisco Fagin, but Meadow Bronze moved into the challenger's role heading for the three-quarters and provided what opposition there was, from there to the finish.

Daily Double—$388

Compass Point's fractional times were 30.1, 1:03, 1:35.1. Last night's 8 and 3 Daily Double returned a whopping $388.70 after Camper won the first with Far Rod and then Don Bell took the second behind White Iola.

Pat Iovine is the latest driver to move his stable into Monticello. Iovine arrived earlier this week with 12 horses, headed by pacer Fair Market, and old favorite Discretion.

Art Koch moved in several horses and Bones Vaughan will be bringing in a string for Billy Haughton this weekend.

Two other stables, Vince Kachel's and Mike Santa Maria's, have moved out. Kachel is now campaigning at Brandywine and Santa Maria is racing at Roosevelt.

Rich Races Set This Saturday

The richest purses on the American turf Saturday will be for 3-year-olds with distaff members of the division appearing in the wealthiest of them all — the $100,000-added Coaching Club American Oaks at Aqueduct.

Male members of the division, riddled by injuries to top performers, get three chances at rich prizes. They are the one mile of the $50,000-added Swaps at Arlington Park, the 1 1-16 miles of the $50,000-added Michigan Derby at Hazel Park and $30,000-added Argonaut over 1 1-16 miles at Hollywood Park.

The 1¼ miles of the Coaching Club American Oaks is the finale of New York's Triple Crown for 3-year-old fillies. It is expected to attract a field of 10, including the winners of the first two legs — Ground Control (Acorn) and Cordially (Mother Goose). Cordially has been made a supplementary entry by owner Howell E. Jackson at the cost of $10,000. With 10 starters the race will be worth $84,175 to the winner.

Other likely starters include such contenders for the divisional title as Marshua, What A Treat, Up Oars and Terentia.

Swift Ruler and Mr. Pak, also rans in the Kentucky Derby, top the probable field of eight or nine in the Swaps. Swift Ruler, who also trailed in the Preakness, is topweight under 118 pounds, two more than Gummo and six more than Mr. Pak.

Pass The Word and Saber Dance, winners of two sections of the Derby Trial last week, are the favorites for the Michigan Derby, which is expected to attract a field of 11.

$25,000 Rodney To Speedy Count

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Speedy Count trotted to an upset victory in the $25,000 Rodney Trot at Roosevelt Raceway Thursday night. The 4-year-old Thursday year - old clocked the clocked the slow time of 2:03 2-5 to win by three-quarters of a length in the night's major meet in New York State.

Big John was second, half a length ahead of Su Mac Lad, who has won more money than any other harness horse.

Speedy County, driven by Billy Haughten, returned $52.10.

—Across the state, at Buffalo Raceway, Miss Kay Cash returned $10.90 after winning the featured $1,250 pace in 2:06. Behind, by a neck, was Key Pebble. Ima Johnston was third.

—At Monticello, two featured $1,000 races for two-year-olds brightened the card. In the first race, Far Rod eased in to first place in 2:11.4. Yankee Shadow was a length and a half behind the winner, who paid $32.50. Haven's Phantom landed the third spot.

And in the fourth race, Compass Point took the lead all the way, clocking 2:07.2 and paying $7.80. Meadow Bronze was second, just ahead of the fast-finishing Fairwell Light.

— At Saratoga, Modest Boy took the $1,000 featured pace in 2:07 2-5 to pay $4.30. Three and three-quarter lengths back was Wayne C. Third was La Gai Haste.

—At Vernon Downs, Murdock Hanover hoofed to his fourth victory in a row, winning the $2,000 featured pace by three-quarters of a length. Second was Knight Surprise. Third was Miss Joan Adios. Murdock Hanover paid $3.50.

National Little League Drive for Funds Saturday

The eighth annual 'Home Run' drive to raise funds for National Little League is scheduled Saturday, starting at 11 a. m.

Areas to be solicited are in the following city wards downtown: 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9.

A goal of $450 has been set, according to officials of the league, who hope that parents will join their young athletes in helping to raise the amount.

Boys taking part in the solicitation, and parents with cars, are requested to report to Shults Stadium, Kingman Park, at 10:45 a. m. The youngsters are to wear their uniforms.

Shults Stadium is the home park of the National Little League and is regarded as one of the most up-to-date well-kept fields in the Hudson Valley.

Residents of the wards listed are requested to be as generous as possible to help defray the costs of maintaining the reputation of the fine league stadium.

One official of the league, hoping that the goal will be reached for the sake of the youngsters, put the plea for funds this way: "Remember that a lot of singles now will add up to many runs for the kids next year."

Glasco Giants Rip Dodgers, 15-5

The Giants, paced by a 12-hit attack, romped to a 15-5 victory over the Dodgers in the Glasco-East Kingston LL.

A five-run splurge in the bottom half of the opening inning gave the winners an early lead. They followed up with four more in the second to make it 9-1. The Dodgers came up with four tallies in the top of the third, but the Gians came up with three more in both the third and fourth to put the game on ice.

Hurler Vic Orbaz, who took the loss, powered a home run for the Dodgers while Giant Frank Sinnott salmmed a triple and a two bagger and single in four trips to the plate. Steve Nagy belted a double and single while team mate Bob Clausi poked two singles in four trips each to the platter for the winners. Tom Cole rocked three singles in four trips for the Giants. Joe Tiano doubled for the losers.

Casper, Lema Share Golf Lead

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — The first-round leaders in the $135,000 Cleveland Open Golf Tournament are nursing a variety of ailments, but their scores are healthy enough.

Billy Casper, the veteran Californian, said he didn't think he would even play Thursday after surgery the night before to remove a hemorrhoid.

But the 33-year-old Casper showed up anyway and posted a strong four-under-par 67 over Highland Parks's 6,821-yard course.

"It didn't bother me a bit," Casper said of his minor operation after he moved into a first-place deadlock with defending titlist Tony Lema.

Champagne Tony, who rang up five birdies and a bogey in registering his 67, said he felt "lousy" because of a heavy cold.

"A few more birdies and I would have forgotten I had a cold," Lema jested after his impressive round.

And Tommy Aaron, one of the players chasing the leaders only a stroke behind at 68, said he has been taking penicillin for a strep throat he picked up last weekend at the Buick Open.

Another pro fighting a nagging cold, Arnold Palmer, started slowly but finished with an even par 71.

For two of the tour's champions, it was a long day. U.S. Open titlist Ken Venturi, plagued by a circulatory ailment in his hands, shot a 76 while PGA king Bobby Nichols came in with a 75.

Venturi, who says frankly "I am playing poorly," will defend his Open crown in St. Louis next week.

Deadlocked with Aaron were rookie Bob Reith Jr., Bill Martindale, Dan Sikes and Johnny Pott.

Firek Slams 3 In NY-Penn Loop

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Auburn Mets punched seven home runs in delivering a 14-3 veto Thursday to the Senators from Geneva in the Class A New York-Penn Baseball League.

Jan Firek slammed three of the homers for seven RBI's. Al Yeates had two homers and Bill Contreras and Gary Haverly accounted for the other two. Bill Vickery clubbed a two-run first-inning homer for the unlucky visitors.

At Wellsville, the Red Sox bowed 3-2 to Binghamton. Right-hander Don Yates preserved a perfect mound record with his fifth victory. He allowed five hits, three walks and struck out six batters.

Jamestown whipped the Pirates, 8-2, at Batavia with the aid of a bases-loaded double by Junior Lopez.

Hyndman Left In Golf Play

By THOMAS A. REEDY

PORTHCAWL, Wales (AP) — Bill Hyndman of Philadelphia carried Uncle Sam's banner into the quarter-finals of the British Amateur Golf Championship today but even at 49 he said it was not his legs he was worried about.

"It's Mike's legs," said Hyndman. "If they give out we're lost. Otherwise I am very confident.

The sole survivor of 34 Americans originally entered in the 1965 title play was talking about his 65-year-old caddie, Mike McCormack, who is just about the last of a dying breed.

Said Mike: "Mr. Hyndman can worry about his own legs. Ill take care of mine."

Throughout his sub-par march through the ranks of the amateur competition here Hyndman has been paying considerable heed to old Mike, who knows the golf courses of Britain like the back of his hand. And it has paid off.

The 6-foot-3 Hyndman and the 5-foot-2 McCormack make a strange looking pair. But their combined golfing skill has resulted in the American playing four cracking rounds in a total of eight-under-par 72 on the 6,700-yard Royal Porthcawl links.

Hyndman defeated Scotlasd's Ronnie Shade 2 and 1; R. D. James of England 4 and 3; Mike Bills of England 7 and 6, and Colin Strachan of Scotland 1 up.

His biggest hurdle to date came up today in the form of Clive Clark, 19-year-old English youth who has risen like a rocket in the past year. Clark is a virtual certainty for the British Walker Cup team and he justified this confidence Thursday when he defeated defending champion Gordon Clark, who is no relative, 4 and 3 in the fifth round.

Springfield Coach

CANTON, N.Y. (AP)—Robert Ford, a backfield coach at Springfield College, has been named head football coach at St. Lawrence University.

University officials made the announcement Thursday.

Ford, an assistant grid coach at St. Lawrence in 1959, will succeed Ronald C. Hoffmann, who will become director of men's physical education at St. Lawrence.

A young mother paying a visit to a doctor made no attempt to restrain her five-year-old son, who was ransacking an adjoining room. But finally, an extra loud clatter of bottles moved her to say,

Mother — I hope, doctor, you don't mind Brian's making all that noise in there.

Doctor (calmly)—No. Besides, he'll be quiet enough in a moment when he gets into the poisons.

Two days later he received this telegram: 'Right has triumphed."

At once he wired back: "Appeal immediately."

EMPLOYMENT

NOTICE TO JOB APPLICANTS
The Kingston Daily Freeman does not knowingly accept Help Wanted advertisements from employers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act if they offer less than legal minimum wages or pay wage differentials based on sex. Most employes engaged in interstate commerce or in the production of goods for such commerce must be paid not less than $1.25 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 40 in a week. Beginning September 3, 1964, most employes in certain large retail service, construction and other enterprises engaged in or producing goods for commerce must be paid not less than $1.15 an hour and time and one-half for hours worked over 42 in a week. The Act also requires equal pay for equal work for men and women. If you are offered less by covered employers, or if you have questions concerning the Fair Labor Standards Act, call or write the U. S. Labor Department's local office at 881 Gerard Ave., Bronx, N. Y., 10452 WYandotte 2-1235

RUSTIC

Long before "ranch home" was a common phrase, this bewitching, rambling charmer was built on a secluded 2 acre parcel. This newly listed Woodstock property includes a huge living room, beamed ceiling family room, 3 or 4 bedrooms, 2 baths, 2 fireplace, patio and privacy, but it is not isolated, as it is close to schools, country club and stores. If you are looking for a home with warmth, and old Woodstock, call us now, this won't last. Asking $26,000.

Field Service Assigns Swiss Student to Onteora Chapter

THERESE MERCERAT

Therese Elizabeth Mercerat, of Bevilard, in the valley of the Bernese Jura in north Switzerland, has been selected as the American Field Service's Onteora Chapter student for the 1965-66 senior year at Onteora Central High.

Miss Mercerat will be hosted during her stay in this country by Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Carle of Wittenberg. The Carle family includes Alan, Lisa, Randall and Linda, who will be Miss Mercerat's classmate at Onteora.

Miss Mercerat, who is a brunette, 5 feet 5 inches tall, is one of three daughters in the Mercerat family. She has attended school at the French gymnasium in Bienne, Switzerland, which is a higher preparatory school for university studies. Her favorite subjects are languages. She enjoys both classical and modern music and plays the flute. Her favorite sports are swimming, skiing and mountain climbing.

Personal Statement

In her personal statement to the American Field Service and the Onteora chapter Miss Mercerat wrote:

"I would look forward very much to live with an American family, so I could compare the way of life with our own, learn a lot of interesting and useful things and, certainly, tell them about Switzerland.

Miss Mercerat said this would be a more efficacious way to "help create friendship among young people in spite of all the differences, which it is in any case useful to know, so that different peoples learn through their mutual discovery more and more to work together on a world-wide level."

Byman Pupils Excellent in Guild Auditions

Two young pupils of Mme. Isabelle Byman, noted concert pianist, teacher and lecturer of Woodstock and New York, scored impressively in recent auditions of the National Guild of Piano Teachers held in New York City.

Mindy Solodar, 12, of Hunter, won a Certificate of Merit with a 95 per cent mark in city-wide ratings.

Charles Scribner III, 14-year-old son of the well known publisher of New York City, received a 99 per cent mark in the Critics Circle rating for a superior plus performance and was awarded a diploma and bronze pin.

Young Scribner appears to be making a habit of collecting awards. At his graduation from the Buckley School of New York last week he received three awards; for highest scholastic standing, for outstanding musical talent; and one for being voted by his classmates the best all-round student, based on character, citizenship and achievement.

Mme. Byman came in for some special praise herself, when, after the auditions had ended, she was presented with a certificate from the National Guild on which was written the single word "wonderful" in the space reserved for opinions of the judges in her entries.

Science Church Names President

MRS. FRANCES S. WELLS

Mrs. Frances S. Wells, a Christian Science teacher and practitioner from San Antonio, Texas, was named president at the June Annual Meeting of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

During the convention, the church's Board of Directors urged the church to find "areas of agreement" which exist with other denominations—" rather than think of ourselves as entirely different or exclusive."

"On the basis of its spirituality Christian Science has much in common with other demoniations the message said.

"To every honest adherent of any God-centered faith sincerely working to uplift and unify the human race, we offer our fellowship and support.

"Today we are confronted with one of history's deepest, most divisive social upheavals," the directors continued.

"Marking this upheaval is the churning drive of the individual to find the real meaning of life and to establish his legitimate place and identity in an increasingly complex and impersonal society.

Taxpayers Set June Meeting

Woodstock Township Taxpayers Association, Inc. has named a three-member nominating committee to recommend officers and directors for the 1965-66 season. They are: Hazel Freitag, Lake Hill; Arthur P. Shepard, Woodstock; Zenna Winslow, Woodstock.

Other persons may be nominated for election to the nominating committee when the organization meets June 19 at 8 p. m. at Deanie's in Woodstock.

After the nominating committee has been certified, the taxpayers will consider the best ways to relieve homeowners of excessive real property taxes.

Directly after the meeting which is for members only, the members will be guests of the association for refreshments.

Rummage Sale For Local SPCA

Dates have been announced for the annual rummage sale and bazaar in Woodstock for the Ulster County SPCA. The dates are June 17-8 at St. Gregory's Episcopal Church parish house.

Heading the rummage committee are Mrs. James Stoutenberg, president; and Mrs. Margaret Kenyon, secretary, of the Woodstock unit. The public is invited.

Doctor Stresses Physical Needs

Dr. Karl Schutz, Woodstock physician who is leading a drive for increased recreation and physical activity in the township, told a Woodstock audience that because our present civilization is separated from nature with its accompanying influence on the mind and body, neglect of exercise leads to loss of man's protective facilities.

Only twelve persons attended the lecture at the Woodstock school, despite Dr. Schutz's efforts to arouse public support of his project.

The doctor told his attentive listeners that our present civilization leads to a decrease of adaptive therefore to disease which depends on the body's abilities to defray failure and adapt to the stresses of man.

"Disease," said Dr. Schutz, "is the biologic expression of the stresses surrounding man. Therefore let us stress prevention. As we invent more and more facilities to take away work we need a new science to show us how to use the new sciences."

Stresses Enjoyment

Dr. Schutz stressed the need for man to come into contact with nature via non-competitive physical activity like hiking, but emphasized that enjoyment should be a driving force. Hiking, he said, would be a good way to study the history of nature to combine various scientific fields.

Dr. Schutz went on to mention care of the skin and influence of the sun. He said that cold water splashing or bathing was distinctly detrimental to nervous people and advised that one should keep moving when in the warm summer sun rather than remain prone, which has an exhausting effect on the body.

Clothing should at all times be worn loosely about the stomach and proper breathing must be studied as an aid to general body development. The doctor then asked the audience to stand and participate in some light exercises which he termed alternatives to the sitting position.

Chambers Award To Woodstockers

Bonnie Johnson and Diedre Wing of Woodstock, seniors at Onteora Central High, are this year's winners of the Richard Chambers Award for outstanding art work.

The award is given annually in memory of the late Richard Chambers of the Craft Foundation of Woodstock. The prizes carry with them a four-week craft course at the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen. The first prize also includes a cash award for artist materials.

Some Areas Get Violent Weather

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain fell in scattered sections of the Far West, the Plains and Southeastern states today in the wake of severe thunderstorms and tornadoes in some areas.

Fairly heavy rain pelted the eastern Gulf states and light rain dampened scattered sections of the Rockies and the Pacific Northwest.

Storms again Thursday and Thursday night, following June's pattern of violent weather, swept areas in the Midwest and southern and central Plains with tornadoes, severe thunderstorms and heavy rain. Stormy weather also battered areas in Florida and Alabama.

Twisters struck sections of Texas and heavy rain and strong winds again battered western parts of the state. Other tornadoes hit near Champaign, Ill.; southwest of Denver; near Dresden, in northwestern Kansas, and at Mary Esther, Fla. Several funnel clouds were spotted in the storm belt. No injuries were reported.

Nearly 10 inches of rain soaked the Muleshoe, Tex., area. In Kansas, where floods continued to menace many small communities in the eastern and central sections, heavy rain was reported in northwestern areas. Heavy rain and hail pelted sections of Missouri and Arkansas.

In the West, seven persons were reported missing after flood waters swept through a canyon near the Utah-Wyoming border, washing out a campground, scattering debris for miles and burying at least one automobile. Five members of the Keith M. Woodruff family of Salt Lake City and two teenaged nephews were reported missing. Their overturned car was buried above a flood-deposited mass of rocks, trees and mud.

Retired News Man Dies

LONDON (AP) — William Turner, former joint general manager of Reuters news agency, died at his home at Bexhill-on-Sea Thursday. He was 84.

Turner was chief Far Eastern correspondent for the news agency for 12 years, became overseas general manager in 1932 and joint general manager six years later. He retired in 1941 after 26 years with Reuters.

VotersTurnDown School Proposals For New Paltz

A proposition calling for $1,970,000 for construction of a new high school and reconstruction of a present central school was defeated Thursday by voters in the New Paltz Central School District by a margin of 181 votes.

The vote was 869 to 688.

The proposed new high school would have cost $1,814,700 and the present central school project would have cost $155,000.

Taxpayers in the New Paltz school district also voted on a school site, which will not be needed because of the defeat of the new school proposition. The Kauder site on Mountain Rest Road was the choice of the voters, who polled 504 votes for that proposed site against 487 for the so-called Jenkins site on DuBois Road, Town of Gardiner.

It was unofficially reported that Board of Education members might meet in the near future to discuss the possibility of resubmitting the new school and reconstruction projects to the voters a second time.

Forecasts Given For N. Y. State Through June 16

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Extended forecasts, as prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, for the period from Saturday through Wednesday:

Northeastern New York—The temperature will average near the seasonal normal. No important day to day changes are expected. Some normals for the period are as follows: Utica, 66, Massena, 64. Precipiation will total on the average less than two tenths of an inch occurring in showers and possibly thunderstorms the first part of next week.

Southeastern New York — Temperatures are expected to average near normal, daily high temperatures averaging in the mid 70s to low 80s and lows averaging in the mid 50s to low 60s. Little day to day variation, with the warmest weather likely near the end of the period. Precipitation may total less than one-quarter inch, falling mainly as showers Sunday or Sunday night.

Western New York—Temperatures will average two to five degrees above the normal highs of 74 to 78 and lows of 54 to 56. Only minor day to day changes in temperatures until warmer Tuesday or Wednesday. Rainfall will average one-quarter inch or less with possible showers about the middle of next week.

Probe Napanoch Fire

Origin of a fire that caused extensive damage to a house on Route 209 about a half mile south of Napanoch Thursday night, is under investigation by BCI investigations from the Ellenville substation of the state police. Troopers said the house is owned by Bernard Dickman of Ellenville and is rented to Sidney and Lucy Simmons. The fire started in the center portion of the residence and caused considerable damage. Gilbert Kinch, of Ellenville, troopers reported, was driving past the house when he discovered the fire and summoned local firefighters.

Nkrumah in Again

ACCRA, Ghana (AP)—Kwame Nkrumah was unanimously elected Thursday by Ghana's new parliament as president for a second term of five years. There was no debate.

U. S. Officials Estimate:

Cong Military Strength 12,000 More in S. Viet

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Official U.S. estimates of Communist hard- core military strength in South Viet Nam have been rising and now total about 12,000 higher than in January.

The latest public estimate of full-time Communist regulars in organized combat units stands at 47,000 men.

Last January U.S. officials estimated this hard core at between 29,000 and 35,000.

In late April, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara used the figures 38,000 to 46,000.

Knowledgeable sources said that the latest announced estimates still are below figures contained in cl3ssified reports.

One figure was said to be close to 64,000 of these well-trained, well- equipped Communist soldiers fighting with the Viet Cong.

A majority of the 47,000 hard-core Viet Cong are infiltrators from North Viet Nam — what Assistant Secretary of Defense John T. McNaughton Thursday called "the brains, the backbone and the cement of the movement as a whole."

These increases in the main force of Viet Cong have been reported despite fairly constant bombing of infiltration routes in North Viet Nam and Laos — routes through which the Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam have been reinforced for six years.

U.S. officials have never claimed that the bombings have halted the infiltration. About the most they have said has been along the lines of McNamara's statement in late April that "we have impeded the progress of men and material from North Viet Nam."

This suggests that, in the absence of the bombings, the Viet Cong hard core would now be considerably greater than it is.

In the meantime, as the tempo of the war has increased on the ground, the United States has boosted its forces in South Viet Nam from about 23,000 at the end of 1964 to a total of about 54,000 now, with many indications that this commitment will rise in the months ahead.

The estimates of the part-time Communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam also have risen from a top of 80,000 in late January to a maximum of about 100,000 now.

The South Vietnamese regular, paramilitary and other forces now total some 574,000 men, with a major increase of some 160,000 under way.

Truck Flattens Wall As Painters Work

SOUTH PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Eight housepainters were busily swabbing an exterior wall of a house Thursday when a driverless pickup truck came along and knocked the wall down.

The truck didn't hit any of the painters, and none was hurt in the tumble.

Thomas Havanis, 42, owner of the vehicle, said the truck was in gear and its brakes set when he left it parked on a hill. As he left, so did it — straight for the house 1,000 feet away.

"I stood there," said Havanis, "and watched it roll down the hill, around the curb, go between light poles, jump a curb, then go straight down the yard, missing every obstacle in its way.

"That darn thing must have had eyes."

Damage to the wall was not determined.

Carlino Not Running

GARDEN CITY, N.Y. (AP)—Joseph Carlino, Republican Assembly speaker from 1959 until his defeat in last year's election, says he will not enter the Nov. 2 race to regain the seat.

The 47-year-old Long Beach attorney told a news conference Thursday that he would be interested in running for state attorney general if that post was vacated by Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz.

Chamber to Push Rigby Name for State Director

Harry Rigby Jr., a past president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce will be nominated for the office of director of the Empire State Chamber of Commerce.

In making this announcement today, Chamber president Harry Kapreilian, said that a statewide campaign will be pushed to elect Rigby to fill the post previously held by the late Howard A. Lewis. The directors of the local Chamber decided to promote Rigby's candidacy at a recent meeting of the board of directors.

Rigby has been very active in many local, county and state affairs. He served on the State's Year of History Commission, served as president of the State Fuel Dealers Association, a trustee of the Ulster County Community College and is currently chairman of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce Community Resources Committee. Businesswise, he is affiliated with the State of New York National Bank.

Voting power for directors of the Empire State Chamber of Commerce is vested in all of the Chambers of Commerce of the state affiliated with the State Chamber.

HARD TO UNDERSTAND
The contents of most insurance policies are written in legal terms which no layman can be expected to understand. But don't include your independent insurance agent.
He can analyze a policy . . . tell you what is good and what's bad and then advise you on the right one to buy from any of a group of companies.
This service is available from only an independent agent who is under no obligations to any particular home office. His only desire is to see that you get the most for your money.
